STATE OF WISCONSIN.

SENATE JOURNAL.

FORTIETH SESSION.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 14, 1891.

The fortieth session of the legislature of the state of Wisconsin began at Madison, the capital city of said state, the second Wednesday, being on the 14th day of January, 1891.

Pursuant to law, at 12 o'clock M. of said day the senate was called to order by the Hon. Charles Jonas, lieutenant governor and president of the senate, who addressed the senate as follows:

Senators: In taking my place as presiding officer of the senate I beg to ask your kind indulgence in any shortcomings that I may show in the performance of my duties. Many of you, senators, I meet here again as old and dear friends; and such of you as I have the pleasure to meet on this occasion for the first time, I hope to be able to count among my friends before the close of the session. I assure you, senators, that it will be my constant endeavor to act, in my capacity as presiding officer of this body, with justice, impartiality and due consideration towards every member of it; and I hope I may contribute my modest share to make this session pleasant, harmonious, and above all beneficial to the best interests of the people of the state of Wisconsin.

The roll of the senators holding over from 1889, and of the senators elect, as transmitted to the senate by Hon. T. J. Cunningham, secretary of state, was read by the clerk as follows:

The committee soon appeared with the governor, who delivered his message, which is as follows:

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

FELLOW CITIZENS OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY:

Your honorable body having organized for the transaction of business, it becomes my duty to present to you such recommendations as seem to me for the best interests of the people of the state.

The electors of Wisconsin have spoken in favor of reform in conducting the business of the state. It remains for you to see that the will of the people, as expressed, is carried out. A short business session, with economy for your watchword, the passage of as few bills as possible, consistent with the needs of the state; little interference with existing good laws; the repeal of bad laws, and the amending of such as are defective, will create a feeling of confidence on the part of the people, and help to make prosperous and happy all of your constituents. The way to bring about a short session is for every member to do his duty. The principal cause for long sessions is delay in the action of committees. A few committees that do not attend promptly to business, and allow bills to accumulate on their hands, cause the work of the session to drag, and hinder those who are willing and anxious to transact business and adjourn. The presiding officer should keep a close watch on the committees, and not hesitate to call attention to those who cause unnecessary delay.

UNNECESSARY OFFICES.

The pledge that state expenses would be reduced to the point necessary for an economical administration of state affairs, should be constantly borne in mind.

During the past twelve years more than seventy official positions have been created by express acts of the legislature, and the reports of the secretary of state show that some two hundred and sixty-five more persons drew salary from the state treasury for personal services in 1889 than in 1878.

These are facts sufficient in themselves to justify, if not demand, the closest scrutiny and investigation, to the end that unnecessary officials may be dispensed with, and unnecessary expense cut off.

I recommend that this matter, together with all proposed legislation looking to the curtailing of the salary list, and the reduction of expenses, be referred to a special joint committee of both houses, appointed for the purpose, in order that such action in the direction indicated, as the legislature may take, may be well considered, wise and effective.

My term of office as governor has so recently begun that I have as yet been unable to fully acquaint myself with this matter in detail. Certain facts, however, have already come under my observation, which suggests the necessity of investigation.

For instance, the office of state veterinarian, created in 1885, cost the state for salaries and ex- penses in 1889.....		$3,906 68
And for so-called glandered horses, slaughtered and then paid for by the state.....		1,642 99
A total of.....		$5,549 67
And in 1890, salaries and expenses.....	$3,460 47
And for slaughtered horses.....	1,612 61	5,073 08
Aggregate for two years.....		$10,622 75
Also that the number of senate employes in 1878 was.....	65
In 1889.....		123
Assembly employes in 1878.....	86
In 1889.....		151
Total in 1878.....	151
Total in 1889.....		274
An increase in both houses of.....		123

The expense on account of senate employes in 1878 was.....	$11,546 37
In 1889.....		$25,171 00
Expense on account of assembly employes in 1878 was.....	$14,709 50
In 1889.....		$30,831 86
Total in 1878.....	$26,255 87
Total in 1889.....		$56,002 88
		$26,255 87
Increase.....		$29,747 01

It will be observed that the number of employes of the two houses has nearly doubled, and that the expense is now more than twice what it was twelve years ago.

It does not seem possible that this immense increase is necessary.

There are many other places in which it is the opinion of many that retrenchment is not only possible, but advisable, and where, if the offices are not abolished, a reduction in the expenses can be made without impairing the efficiency of the public service or neglecting the interests of the people. I call your attention to some of these:

The dairy and food commissioner.

The state timber agents.

Game wardens.

Fish wardens, and the many boards created for the furtherance of special interests. I have elsewhere called your attention to the state board of charities and reform, and the state board of supervision, and I earnestly urge you to take prompt and decisive action in regard to these matters, in order that the burdens of our people, instead of being added to, as has been the custom for so many years past, may be lightened to the utmost possible extent consistent with a proper, business-like and efficient administration of governmental affairs.

Very little in this direction can be accomplished without the active, earnest aid of the legislature, but with that assistance I am confident much can be done. In this connection I would suggest that the engrossing of bills be done away with except where the original bill shall have been amended in such a manner as to make such engrossing necessary, which in itself will cause a material decrease in expenditure, and saving in time. This can very properly be done by a rule so instructing the clerks of your respective bodies.

It must be remembered that all special interests and individuals, disposed for private purposes to retain useless officials, and continue the payment of unnecessary salaries, will attend your sessions, and by every means, in person, and by their agents, urge upon you the necessity of protecting their interests, while the whole people will be represented by no paid attorneys or lobbyists, and their interests will be wholly unprotected unless you fearlessly perform your duties, and see to it that impartial investigation and unbiased judgment take the place of special pleading and selfish interests.

Let it be demonstrated that the cause of the whole people is safe in your hands.

THE CONDITION OF THE TREASURY.

The last report of the secretary of state showed a balance in the treasury to the credit of the general fund, on the 30th of September last, of $345,895.03. On the 5th of January, at noon, when the administration was changed, there was turned over to the in-coming state treasurer, as the balance of the general fund, the sum of $23,599.32 appearing upon the books of the out-going treasurer. In point of fact, however, the general fund of the state was more than exhausted. At that very moment warrants upon that fund to the amount of $36,096.87 had been drawn by the out-going secretary of state, of which those for the sum of $35,642.08 had been actually signed on the morning of the 5th of January, and but a very short time before the transfer of the offices to the in-coming administration. Besides these warrants a large amount of unpaid obligations, immediately due and entitled to discharge, and for which warrants should have already been issued, remained unaudited by the retiring secretary of state, and the additional sum of $28,984.44 has been necessarily audited by the present secretary, and warrants drawn therefor upon the general fund. In the meantime this fund has had no considerable receipts and can expect none of substantial amount until about the middle of February. In this condition of things the creditors of the state are either obliged to wait, or the treasurer is put to the risk, in order to protect the credit of the state, of employing other funds in his custody to discharge warrants drawn upon the general fund. It needs not be said that such a condition of affairs ought not to be encountered. The annual revenues accruing to the general fund are sufficient to discharge all the annual obligations imposed upon it unless unwarrantable and extravagant appropriations be made, and this difficulty has arisen, as I believe, not from a real insufficiency of receipts to discharge the obligations of the general fund, but from faulty practices in legislation hitherto prevailing. It has been customary, in making special appropriations, to direct that they shall be payable from any moneys in the general fund not otherwise appropriated, whereby an immediate liability for the entire appropriation is imposed upon the treasury, notwithstanding, in many instances, a considerable time may elapse before the money will be actually required, and that, when required, its disbursement should more properly be made in installments as expended.

It is respectfully recommended that this practice be corrected by carefully providing in every appropriation for the disbursement of the money from the treasury from time to time only, as it shall be actually required for the purpose to which it is applied.

Another practice has added to the difficulty mentioned, and seems to me to require correction. This is the payment in advance quarterly of the regular annual appropriations for the maintenance of the various public institutions which derive support from the state. This money should remain in the treasury to be disbursed as needs require. The general fund, by these methods, can be kept at all times adequate to the demands made upon it, instead of being periodically largely overdrawn, because moneys not yet actually expended have been paid out in advance of necessity, and often perhaps, for the mere convenience or advantage of special treasurers.

It is obvious, also, that if the policy shall be adopted that I recommend in this message, of making use of the interest which may accrue from the treasury funds for the benefit of the state, an additional reason for this course lies in the additional gain which the people may thus enjoy.

The following is a statement of balances in the several funds of the state treasury at noon on Monday, January 5th, 1991:

INTEREST ON STATE FUNDS.

The legislature of 1876, having ascertained by the report of the state treasurer, in response to a resolution of inquiry, that deposits of the moneys remaining in the treasury to the credit of the various funds, had been customarily made in various banks in the state, and that the treasurer had derived considerable sums of interest every year from the banks which carried these funds, enacted a stringent law by which he was required to keep within the vaults of the treasury all public moneys committed to his custody, and in compensation, so far as the legislature regarded compensation justly due, for the deprivation of interest and fees previously enjoyed by the treasurer, the salary of that officer was changed from $1,200 to $5,000, and he was directed to pay into the treasury all fees and perquisites received by him from every source. This law was incorporated with the revision of 1878 and still remains upon the statute book, a plain and unmistakable declaration of the policy of the state, as determined by the legislature; and its enforcement is charged upon the governor and attorney-general as an additional sanction, who are required, at least once in each quarter year, and at such other times as the governor may think fit, to examine and see that all money appearing by the books of the secretary of state and state treasurer as belonging to the several funds, shall be in fact where the law required it to be, in the vaults of the treasury. It was unquestionably the purpose of the legislature to prevent the use of public funds for any purpose of gain to the treasurer, to any favorites, or to the state itself. Notwithstanding, it now appears that this law has been systematically and continually violated for years, by the deposit of most of the funds of the state, amounting to many hundreds of thousands of dollars, in various banks, and public rumor, so strongly confirmed by circumstances as to be entirely credible, imputes the practice to the banks holding these deposits, of paying interest for the use of the money, either to the treasurer or to other persons whom he has permitted to receive it. There are many reasons which render it prudent and even desirable that the public moneys should be kept in depositories outside the treasury. The risk which the treasurer and his bondsmen assume in the custody of so large a sum of money, if required to keep it all together, both from fire and robbery, is such as would seriously interfere with that officer's obtaining sureties for the high liabilities imposed by his official bond. It would be some disadvantage that so much currency should be withdrawn from common use, and especially is it convenient to the creditors of the state that payment be made by drafts of the treasurer payable at commercial centers. These considerations have operated to check criticism of violations of the law, among those to whom the facts became known, and seem, with others, to indicate that the policy declared by the legislature of 1876 is not the wisest for the state to pursue.

During many years the average amount of public moneys available for deposit has probably been above $700,000, and banks of the most approved responsibility are ready and willing to carry these deposits, subject to check on demand, and pay the usual rates of interest common to those institutions where large sums are kept by depositors for a length of time. This rate of interest ranges, as I am informed, from two to three per cent., and it is obvious that the deposit of these funds, under proper restrictions, might therefore not only subserve the useful purposes indicated, but rightfully and properly afford to the state a moderate source of revenue, which would be to that extent a relief to the people from taxation. To secure the safe operation of such a policy careful legislation is necessary. Among other things it should require abundant security from every bank admitted to the list of public depositories; it should make the state a preferred creditor, and provide every other reasonable safe-guard to protect the funds from loss and ensure payment to the treasury of all interest arising from them. This implies, of course, a radical change of policy from that heretofore prevailing in our law. There appears to me, however, no reason why that change should not be made. Even larger sums than the state would be likely to deposit in any one institution are often entrusted to banks by private parties, and it need not be said that loss, more especially among the well established and approved banking institutions of the state, is a thing of very rare occurrence. Properly guarded, I cannot think any risk will be encountered which the state cannot wisely accept. The practice prevails with authority of law in some other states, and more often still with municipalities, and has a favorable experience to commend it.

In the public discussions preceding the recent general election the right of the state to all the interest which has been heretofore collected by the state treasurers, or others under their direction, was earnestly maintained among the people, and it is believed has the support of sound principles of law. The attorney general will, therefore, in due time, institute such proceedings in the courts as he shall regard proper to recover such interest moneys. The amount at stake is considerable. The labors involved are likely to be great, and it may be desirable that a moderate sum for contingent expenses should be provided to further the prosecution of these proceedings.

INVESTMENT OF TRUST FUNDS.

The state holds large amounts of money belonging to what are known as the trust funds, and the sole rightful purpose to which these funds can be applied is to gain interest. Necessarily, in order best to promote this end there should be as wide an opportunity for investment as can be safely left open to the officers charged with this duty. At present loans can be made only upon the bonds of this state, of which none exist, upon the bonds of the United States and certain specified states, of which few or none are practically available, or upon loans to school districts or municipalities within the state, which do not require so much. An unfortunate experience has shown that the state cannot safely undertake to make loans of these funds to individuals, but I believe that there are other securities to be obtained in which the funds of the state may safely be placed so that all may be made available to the ends for which they were provided, if not better rates of interest gained.

Your attention is respectfully invited to this subject.

SEMI-ANNUAL PAYMENT OF TAXES.

The taxes which are annually exacted from the people are not needed at a particular time, but are expended from time to time throughout the entire year, not only by the state but by the counties and subordinate municipalities. It appears to me plain that all the public needs would be as well subserved by payment of these taxes semi-annually instead of annually, as at present required, and that a considerable relief would ensue to the taxpayers of the state by thus leaving in their hands for six months one-half the total annual levies for all public purposes. This would require some changes in the present statutes for the collection of taxes and for the sale of lands delinquent for non-payment of taxes, a change not difficult to make in entire harmony with the present system. Another advantage which might be gained would be the relief of the treasury from the congestion annually experienced under the present system during the earlier months of the year.

The mill tax for the support of the common schools, amounting to nearly six hundred thousand dollars, is now collected more than six months before the period for its distribution, and necessarily remains not only without benefit to the tax-payer, but also at a certain risk.

These various advantages seem to me so important that I respectfully commend this reform to your careful attention, and recommend the proper changes in the statutes to afford this relief to the people.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The high rank which our public schools have attained is a matter of just pride to all our people. For twenty years the progress of Wisconsin in educational matters has been remarkable, and much more rapid than in many older states. Everything within the power of the legislature necessary to advance the standing and increase the usefulness of our public schools should be done promptly — with care and prudence, but with liberality. Legislation in that direction will meet with my warm approval. In many parts of the state complaints are being made that large numbers of children are denied the benefits of our free schools because of a lack of accommodation for all who desire to attend. This condition is one which should not be tolerated. The number of children in the state who do not attend school is in fact much smaller than has been represented in some quarters, and the actual percentage would be greatly reduced if all of those desiring to attend could find room in our school-houses.

FACTORY LABOR.

The employment of children of tender age in factories, or other places of business, should be strictly prohibited, and a careful examination of existing laws on this subject with a view to their amendment where necessary is earnestly recommended.

THE BENNETT LAW.

Chapter 519 of the laws of 1839 has been the source of much discussion and dissension in our state. In my judgment this act, so far as it refers to educational matters, is unwise and unnecessary. In many of its provisions it is an arbitrary and unjustifiable interference with parental rights, individual freedom and the liberty of conscience, and I therefore recommend its prompt repeal.

The real underlying principle of this law is not compulsory attendance at school, nor a wise advancement of popular education, but an assertion of the "strong government" theory as opposed to that dearly prized principle of personal liberty, which is the true foundation of our government.

Misrepresentations have been made in the heat of political controversy by its defenders, both as to the law itself and as to the motives and principles of those who oppose it, which have tended to bring our state into disrepute among those far from the scene of conflict, and ignorant of the real matters in dispute.

Evidence exists that to some extent such misstatements and misrepresentations, made by mere political partisans, blinded by the heat and glare of fierce party strife, ill considered and unfair, if not deserving of much severer criticism, have been accepted in some localities abroad as fairly stating the real situation, and as being the deliberate judgment of those qualified to judge and acquainted with the facts. This should be a source of great regret to all good citizens. The principle asserted in this piece of legislation would not only destroy some of our private schools, but would establish the right of the state or the dominant party in the state to dictate what, and what alone, all the children within its borders should be taught, leaving to the minority, however large, no discretion or freedom in the matter. A principle more subversive of the most important protection to individual liberty and the rights of conscience could scarcely be imagined.

Such schools as are now supported by the people at private expense should in no way be interfered with by legislation. They are important in advancing the welfare and education of the people of the state. The right of the citizen to educate his child in accordance with the dictates of his conscience, without interference on the part of the state, should be recognized and defended.

ELECTION LAWS.

All laws, the purpose of which is to preserve the purity of the ballot and prevent spying and interference at the polls, should be preserved and perfected. The right of every citizen to exercise the sovereign privilege of voting according to the dictates of his conscience should be sacredly guarded. To aid in accomplishing this purpose a law known as the Cooper Law, was enacted two years ago. It has already been subjected to a reasonable test. That it is in many respects crude, uncertain and defective, while in its main features beneficial, is established.

Among the objectionable features are, allowing in certain cases election boards to be composed entirely of members of one political party; the restrictions imposed upon the voter who may need assistance in marking his ballot; the expensive method of advertising the ticket in newspapers, and the lack of definite provision as to the compensation for such publication, and the manner of preserving and caring for the ballots after they are once counted, which now opens wide the door for fraud. The testimony introduced in a recent trial of an election contest in the northern part of this state demonstrates how easily under existing laws fraud and corruption, banished from the polling place, find encouragement and refuge in official dishonesty or negligence in higher places.

Other defects and crudities might be pointed out but they will suggest themselves to those of you who will be entrusted with the important duty of preparing the necessary amendments to perfect our election code.

CHARITABLE, REFORMATORY AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

Believing that one state board, properly organized, would be sufficient to manage all the charitable, reformatory and penal institutions of the state, and that a more humane, economical and harmonious administration of the affairs of these institutions can be had if all are under one management, I recommend that the state board of charities and reform and the state board of supervision be abolished, and that provision be made for the appointment and organization of a new board, granting to the same such enlarged powers as may be necessary for the proper care and management of the institutions placed under its control, and that such board be composed of men who are required to give their entire time to the service of the state.

THE NATIONAL GUARD.

The importance of maintaining a well organized and effective state military force has long been recognized and conceded by the most thoughtful and patriotic citizens. It is thought that numerically the present military force is ample for all probable needs, and the people of the state are to be congratulated that the patriotism and unselfishness of officers and men have brought the Wisconsin National Guard to its present comparatively fine condition.

Care should be exercised that nothing be done to lessen in any degree the effectiveness of the National Guard, and if anything is lacking by way of equipment or otherwise which would add to that effectiveness, the state should promptly supply it.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

The four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus will be celebrated in 1893 by holding in Chicago, Illinois, an international exhibition. Wisconsin should be represented, and a proper representation calls for an appropriation at this session. A fitting exhibition of agriculture, our foremost industry, with its grain, stock and dairy interests, the mines, manufactures and commerce of our state should be made.

Carefully consider the importance of this subject and appropriate such sum for the purpose as you deem necessary.

CONCLUSION.

In conclusion I desire to call your attention to the fact that many of the reports of the different departments, boards and commissions of the state call for extra appropriations, and to remind you that a large number of new projects, all calling for money, will be urged upon you. While many of these demands may be in a measure meritorious, and at some future time worthy of careful consideration, I believe the present condition and temper of our people will not warrant unusual or extraordinary appropriations.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

The committee on Privileges and Elections, to whom was referred the Fetzer-Scofield contest and papers relating thereto,

Have had the same under consideration, and the majority of the committee have instructed me to report the same back as follows:

To the Senate:

Your committee having under consideration the matter of the contest for the office of member of the senate for the First senate district, Wisconsin, respectfully beg leave to submit the following report:

There appeared before the committee the contestant John Fetzer, in person, and David S. Rose, his attorney, and the claimant, Edward Scofield, in person, and Eastman and Mountain, and W. H. Webster, his attorneys.

The following facts were admitted by the respective parties at the hearing of said matter, to wit:

1. That said John Fetzer was duly nominated to said office and was the candidate for said office representing the democratic party at the general election held Nov. 4th, 1890, and the said Edward Scofield was duly nominated to said office and was the candidate for said office representing the republican party at said election.

2. That in the county of Door in said district there were cast for said office at said election 1991 votes, of which number said Fetzer received 1,038 and said Scofield received 953 votes, and in the county of Oconto there were cast for said office 2,113 votes, of which number the said Fetzer received 1,064 votes and the said Scofield received 1,049 votes, whereby in the said counties of Door and Oconto the said Fetzer received an aggregate majority of 100 votes for said office in excess of the number of votes received by said Scofield in said two counties.

3. That in the county of Marinette, in said senate district, according to the returns from the several voting districts in said county and the canvass of those returns by the board of county canvassers of said Marinette county, there were cast for said office at said election 2,489 votes, of which number said Scofield received 1,287 votes and the said Fetzer received 1,202 votes, leaving to said Scofield in said Marinette county a majority of 85 votes in excess of the number of votes received by said Fetzer in said county, and thereby in said senate district the said Fetzer received a plurality of 15 votes in excess of the number of votes received by said Scofield at said election in said district, and was duly elected to said office.

4. That after the canvass of the returns of the votes cast at said election in said Marinette county had been concluded, by the board of county canvassers for said county, and after said board had completed and certified the statements and returns of said canvass according to the law, the said Edward Scofield, in due form made application for a recount of the votes cast in said Marinette county for said office of state senator by the board of county canvassers of said county.

5. That upon said application, the said board of county canvassers were duly convened and, proceeded to and did open the ballot envelopes from the several election districts in said Marinette county, and recounted the ballots cast in said county, for said office, at said election. That upon said recount it was found that there had been cast for said office, in said county, 2,571 votes, of which number said Scofield received 1,364 votes, and the said Fetzer received 1,207 votes, leaving to the said Scofield a plurality, in said county, of 157 votes in excess of the number of votes cast for said Fetzer in said county instead of a plurality of 85 votes as shown by said original canvass.

6. That within the time prescribed by law the said John Fetzer served upon said Scofield a notice of contest, in due form, and a verified copy thereof he filed in the office of secretary of state on the 30th day of December, 1890, and more than ten days before the date upon which the pending session of the legislature convened.

7. That all formalities and requirements of law, to bring said matter and contest to a hearing before the senate have been fully complied with.

8. That the grounds of said contest are, that after the ballots cast in said Marinette county had been counted and canvassed by the inspectors of election of the respective election districts, and after they had been enclosed in the official envelopes, and the envelopes sealed, and after said envelopes had been delivered to the custody of and deposited with the county clerk of said county, and before the said envelopes were opened by the board of county canvassers of said county at the recount aforesaid, the said envelopes were unlawfully and fraudulently opened, and the said ballots were unlawfully and fraudulently altered and changed so as to make it appear upon the face of said ballots that the said Edward Scofield, as such candidate, had received more votes for said office than he had in fact received at said election.

We further report that we have heard all the testimony and evidence adduced at the hearing of said contest, by the respective parties, and have examined all the disputed ballots cast at said election in said Marinette county, that were produced in court; that we have carefully considered all the same and now being fully and sufficiently advised we do find and decide as follows, to-wit:

1. That after the ballot envelopes from the several voting districts in said Marinette county were received into the custody of the county clerk of said county, who by law is made the legal custodian thereof, and before said envelopes were first legally opened upon the said recount, the said envelopes were unlawfully and fraudulently opened, the ballots contained therein were unlawfully and fraudulently changed and altered; that said changes and alterations were made by marking in spaces opposite the name of said Edward Scofield, upon said ballots, left blank upon many of said ballots by the respective voters who cast the same, a voting cross or mark, indicating that the said Scofield had received a vote thereby from the voters who respectively cast said ballots, when in truth and in fact the said Scofield had not been thereby voted for.

2. That the ballot envelope containing the ballots cast at said election in the First ward of the city of Marinette, was unlawfully opened and the said ballots were unlawfully and fraudulently changed and altered by inserting voting crosses or marks upon said ballots opposite the name of said Scofield and thereby causing it to appear that the said Edward Scofield, as such candidate, had received more votes for said office in said voting district than he had in fact received at said election in said precinct.

That the evidence of such opening of said envelopes, and the altering and changing of said ballots is in our judgment conclusive; that four of the officers of election at said precinct, whose credibility is in no manner questioned, have testified affirmatively and positively that one of said officers, before inclosing certain ballots in said envelope, had folded them, wrapped and tied them together with wrapping twine; that the said ballots tied as aforesaid, were then laid upon another pile of ballots which were folded over the bundle of ballots so tied as aforesaid, and then placed in the envelope, and the same was carefully and securely sealed.

The following is the testimony given by the said four respective witnesses with reference thereto:

DAN'L CORRY testified, (page 74 of testimony):

Q. "Now after all of your ballots were counted, what was done with them?"

A. "Well, sir, they were put into a paper, put into an envelope, there was one of our inspectors, he was ballot clerk rather, he was the one that did counting as well as the rest of us; before they were put into the envelope he rolled his tickets up together, doubled them up, I don't know just how much, and he put a string around them, his pile, he put a string around them cross ways, that way first and then he crossed the string and then done it up; when it was finished something like a grocer would do up a package with twine, and he says he wrote his name on the outside; I saw him writing something, I asked him what he was writing and he said it was his name; then he put that pile of tickets out separate from the others, inside of the other tickets and folded them once I think like that (indicating double), and somebody, one of the inspectors put them into the envelope; I didn't see which it was."

Q. "Then the pile of tickets that he had counted in that manner were tied with twine in the manner you have described when they went into the envelope?"

A. "Yes, sir."

Cross examination. (Page 77 of testimony.):

Q. "When the count was over he folded his block of ballots and placed the string around them?"

A. "Yes, sir."

Q. "You are speaking of course now of what you observed yourself?"

A. "Yes, sir; I saw him tie the string around them."

Q. "Was that lot of ballots that he placed a string around in your sight constantly from the time he placed it there until it went into the envelope?"

A. "Yes. He didn't put it on until a minute before. They were waiting to put the tickets into the envelope while he was putting the string on."

Q. "He wrapped other ballots around that particular lot — that particular block?"

A. "No sir, he enclosed them with other ballots with the ones that were not tied together."

Q. "Inside of them?"

A. "Yes."

Q. "So that the others wrapped around those?"

A. "Yes, I think so, that is my recollection of it now."

BERNARD H. ANDERLY, testified (page 96.)

Q. "Did you notice any ballots tied together with a string?"

A. "Yes. I noticed one package."

Q. "Do you remember who had that package of ballots for count?"

A. "Johnny Corry."

Q. "State, did you see him tie them together?"

A. "Well yes, I see him when I was going around; I was putting ballots in one pile, placing them together, taking them from different piles as they left them and placing them in one pile; John was looking for a string and I wanted to know what he wanted with the string. He said he wanted to tie up his ballots; I said what are you doing that for, I says we are not doing it. He says you fellows can do as you have a mind to with your ballots, but I am going to tie mine; says I all right. There was a strong cord with the ballots when they were brought down and he put some of that around it."

Q. "Were the ballots tied that way when they were put into the envelope?"

A. "Yes sir."

Q. "The ballots — his ballots?"

A. His ballots were, because I picked up the package myself and placed them in on top of the other ballots and folded them up and handed them to Lindquist."

Q. "Was anything else put into that envelope excepting the ballots?"

A. "No, nothing else except the string around the package."

Cross-Examination, (Page 101.)

Q. "You speak of some ballots having been tied with a string by John Corry?"

A. "Yes."

Q. "Were those ballots placed on the inside of the mass when the ballots were folded to be put into the envelope, or state how they were?"

A. "They were lying on top of some of the ballots because I placed them there myself, and I took the ballots up and folded them up in order to get them in the envelope?"

Q. "Where were all the ballots when you closed them up?"

A. "They were lying on the table."

Q. "Did you place that lot of ballots separate by itself in the envelope, or did they all go in together?"

A. "They went in together with that lot, I think there was two lots of them."

Q. "Was this on the inside or outside, or was it between the two?"

A. "It was between one lot of ballots."

Q. "That is some of the one lot of ballots was placed above it and some below it?"

A. "No."

Q. "Well, describe how it was?"

A. "There was a lot of ballots on the bottom, and that package was lying on top of them, so I took the ballots up and folded them over the bundle and handed them to Lindquist and he put them in the envelope."

Q. "And you say that when that lot of ballots went into the envelope there was a string around them?"

A. "Yes, sir."

Q. "You are sure of that?"

A. "I am sure of that."

JOHN CORRY testified (Page 106.)

Q. "After you finished the count of your ballots, what did you do with them?"

A. "I finished the count of my ballots and folded them once and tied them."

Q. "With what?"

A. "With a piece of wrapping twine or string."

Q. "Just state to the jury, describe to the jury, manner in which you tied them?"

A. "Well, the ballots were folded. I don't recollect the size of the ballots, in case they were 10 by 14 inches, they would be folded so as to make a square 5 by 14 inches long, and the string was wrapped first around the long part and then across it, and wrapped the other way; I thought that I wrapped them twice the long way and three times the other way, and tied the string then."

Q. "Did you see the ballots when they were put into the the envelope?"

A. "Yes, I seen them when they were put in the envelope."

Q. "Who put them in the envelope?"

A. "I couldn't say."

Q. "Do you know who sealed the envelope?"

A. "No, sir, I saw it sealed, I didn't pay much attention to it, I saw it sealed."

Q. "Did the ballots you counted, that is to say your pile of ballots go into the envelope tied in the manner you have described?"

A. "Yes, sir, they did."

Q. "Why did you conclude to tie up your ballots that night with a string, what was your object?"

A. "Well I don't know, presentiment I suppose at the time."

Q. "Sort of a premonition?"

A. "Yes."

Q. "Just sort a describe that."

A. "I did so partly from the remarks that Mr. Westman, one of the ballot clerks made the other ballot clerk, he said it was a shame that there were so many blank votes cast and that Mr. Scofield should have had a different place on the ticket, that those blank votes should belong to him, that he was on a part of the ticket where he would not be noticed."

Q. "That caused you to tie a string around your ballots?"

A. "No sir, I thought it would not be out of place to tie a string on them and I did so."

Q. "What other object did you have in tying a string around them?"

A. "I wanted to have them distinguished from the other ballots."

Q. "What was your object in having them distinguished from the other ballots?"

A. "I thought they were counted right."

Q. "And the others were counted wrong?"

A. "I didn't say that."

Q. "You thought yours were counted nearer right than others?"

A. "I can't say that I did."

Q. "That was the idea in your head?"

A. "I can't say that it was."

Q. "Then what is the reason you put the string around those, around yours?"

A. "I put the string around because I thought my ballots were counted right."

Q. "And you did not think the others were counted right?"

A. "No, I thought if they were brought up again that they would be distinguished, would be separated from the others, if I thought the others were not counted right I would have spoken of it there, I spoke of other things, and I would have spoken of that."

Q. "You really thought to place your ballots in such a way that they would not be discredited in any way by the other count?"

A. "Yes, sir."

Q. "That is the motive, was it?"

A. "Yes."

(Page 109, same witness.)

Q. "You saw these ballots go into the envelope?"

A. "Yes, sir, I saw these ballots go into the envelope."

Q. "From the time you tied the string around them until they went into the envelope, did you constantly have your eye upon that package of ballots; did you follow that package of ballots constantly?"

A. Witness. "From the time I tied the string on?"

Q. "Yes, before the time and up to the time it went into the envelope?"

A. "No, sir, but I saw them before they went into the envelope, the other ballots were lying on the table there opened out. This package would be half the size of an ordinary ballot; and they were laid on the half side and the other part was laid right over the part that was tied."

Q. "You say that this mass of ballots was just half the size of the others?"

A. "They were, in the shape they were tied, yes."

Q. "Then when they were tied they were folded over?"

A. "The others were folded over them, yes."

Q. "When you tied them did you tie them in a folded condition or in a flat condition?"

A. "I tied them in a folded condition."

Q. "They lay upon the other ballots that were not tied?"

A. "Yes, sir, they laid upon the ballots that were not tied."

Q. "Just half the size then in bulk?"

A. "Yes."

Q. "And the others were wrapped about them?"

A. "Yes."

Q. "And you saw them in that condition going into the envelope?"

A. "Yes, sir, I did."

Q. "With the string on them?"

A. "Yes."

EUGENE M. CEDAR testified (p. 113):

Q. "Did you notice that either of the election officers folded or tied the ballots that he had counted with twine?"

A. "Yes, sir."

Q. "What officer?"

A. "It was one of the ballot clerks, John Corry."

Q. "Did you notice whether these ballots tied with a string went into the envelope in that condition?"

A. "I think they did."

Cross Examination (page 114):

Q. "Did you see the string placed around about the bunch of ballots?"

A. "I seen string tied around a package of ballots."

Q. "Did you see the string while it was tied or while it was being placed around the ballots?"

A. "Yes, I seen the man tying the string around the ballots."

Q. "Did you see that lot of ballots constantly from that time until it went into the envelope?"

A. "I don't know as I could see it constantly; it was placed on the table with the other ballots and folded right over, and I seen the whole package of ballots, but I couldn't just watch that particular package all the time."

Q. "Would you be willing to swear that it was anything more than your impression that that package that was tied with a string went into the envelope with a string on it; in other words, did you see it when it went in so as to be able to swear it went in the condition it was when it was tied?"

A. "I think I could."

Q. "You saw the string go into the envelope, in other words?"

A. "I didn't just see the string when it went in there, but I seen the string placed around the ballots and the ballots placed inside of the others and the whole thing go in."

Q. "Was it all one continuous act?"

A. "The string was placed right around it. I think they were waiting for him to get the string on, and I was just holding my ballots in my hand, and I says where did you get that string; I says have you got any more of that string; and he says no, he says I found this on the floor; I says if I had a piece of string I would tie mine up too, and I placed mine down on the table. He was just tying his then."

The following is the testimony of the remaining three election officers of that precinct with reference to the question under consideration:

John Tufts testified (page 116).

Q. "Do you remember of seeing either of the election clerks, election officers, tie his ballots together with twine?"

A. "I did not."

Q. "You didn't observe that?"

A. "No, sir."

Q. "Do you remember of the ballots being folded into shape to be put into the envelope?"

A. "Yes, they were folded."

Q. "Did you see that done?"

A. "Yes, I did."

Q. "Do you remember who did it?"

A. "No, I don't."

Re-direct examination (Page 121).

Q. "Do you mean to be understood as testifying that one bundle of those tickets was not tied up with string when it was put into the envelope?"

A. "I didn't say it was not; I say I didn't see it done."

Mr. Lindquist testified. (Page 122.)

Q. "Who sealed the envelope?"

A. "I did."

Q. "Who handed the ballots to you to be placed in the envelope?"

A. "I think Mr. Anderly did."

Q. "In what shape were these ballots when they were handed to you, folded or open?"

A. "Folded up."

Q. "To be counted the ballots had been divided into five piles had they not?"

A. "Yes, sir."

Q. "Two piles containing 62 each, two 61 each, one 60?"

A. "I think that is it."

Q. "That is your recollection of it?"

A. "Yes."

Q. "Then they had been distributed among five of the election officers to be counted?"

A. "Yes, sir."

Q. "Did you see who folded the ballots?"

A. "No, I don't remember who folded them; I didn't see them."

(Page 123, same witness).

Q. "Did you see Mr. John Corry tie the ballots he had counted, together with a string?"

A. "No, sir."

Q. "Do you know whether he did or not?"

A. "I do not."

Q. "You stated, if I remember correctly, that when the ballots were handed to you to be placed in the envelope that they had been folded?"

A. "Yes."

Q. "Suitably to be enclosed in the envelope?"

A. "Yes, sir."

Cross Examination (page 124):

Q. "After the count of ballots was completed do you remember seeing them all placed together preparatory to their going into the envelope?"

A. "No, I don't."

Q. "Did you see them when they were folded in any one's hands to go into the envelope?"

A. "They were handed to me by Mr. Anderly."

Q. "Did you see when he took them from the table?"

A. "No, sir, I did not."

Q. "Did you see any ballots in the mass tied with a string at any time?"

A. "No sir, I did not."

Q. "Did you see any string upon any of the ballots at any time?"

A. "No, sir."

Q. "When they went into the envelopes were you holding the envelopes?"

A. "Yes."

Q. "Did you observe the mass as it went in?"

A. "Yes."

Q. "Did you see any string?"

A. "I did not, they were placed in though in two separate bundles."

Q. "They were placed in — that is right is it?"

A. "Yes."

Q. "About half and half as you remember it?"

A. "I don't know; I think it was Mr. Corry's ballots that were placed in there separate."

Q. "Mr. John Corry?"

A. "Yes."

Q. "Do you think the ballots which he counted were placed in there separately?"

A. "Yes."

Q. "Was there any string around those bundles when they went into that envelope?"

A. "There was not. Not that I know of, I didn't see any."

Q. "The other ballots other than those counted by Mr. Corry, went in together, did they?"

A. "Yes, sir."

Re-examination (page 125).

Q. "Mr. Corry says that he tied his ballots together with string, folding them once and that then he laid them upon the pile of ballots upon the table, which were open, and folded those ballots over his ballots tied together; do you know whether that is true or not?"

A. "I am quite sure they were put in separate."

Q. "Will you swear that they were put in separately by themselves and were not tied together?"

A. "Well, I will swear that they were not tied together as I did not see them tied."

Q. "If they had been tied together in that manner and then enclosed in other ballots by having other ballots folded over them, would you have been apt to have seen the string?"

A. "No, not if they were that way."

GEO. H. WESTMAN testified (page 139).

Q. "Mr. John Corry was one of the election officers, was he not?"

A. "Yes, sir."

Q. "Did you see whether or not John Corry tied twine around the ballots that he had counted?"

A. "No, I did not."

Q. "You did not notice that?"

A. "I did not notice the twine."

Q. "Did you notice whether he did or not?"

A. "No, I can't say that I did. I heard about the twine afterwards; couldn't remember then."

Q. "And you can't remember now?"

A. "I can't remember now."

Q. "Did you hear any conversation between Mr. Ceder and John Corry about twine there that evening that you remember of?"

A. "No, I don't; I didn't tie mine up. I left mine loose and handed them over."

Q. "Then the pile of ballots that had been counted by John Corry he might have tied together without your knowing it, without your observing it?"

A. "Well, yes, he might have done so."

Q. "You feel just like saying also, don't you Mr. Westman, that had they been tied there you would have seen it?"

A. "Well, it still might have escaped my notice."

The foregoing is substantially all the testimony with reference to the question, "Was there a string placed in the ballot envelope of the first ward of the city of Marinette?" If there was and there was no string found in that envelope when it was first legally opened, then the conclusion is irresistible that the envelope had been illegally and fraudulently opened. Upon that question there is not even contradiction in the evidence. It is established as a conclusion by the testimony of the four witnesses first named, against which there is not even a direct contradiction. We find and decide that there was a string placed in the envelope of the First ward of Marinette by the ballot clerk, John Corry, one of the officers of election and that containing such string said envelope was legally sealed.

It has been conceded by the claimant, Edward Scofield, that when that envelope was first legally opened there was no string found therein.

We further report that we have heard read the testimony of each and all of the officers of election who acted at said election in said First ward, from which appear the following facts: That at said precincts there were cast 307 ballots; that the poll list showed that there had been cast 306 ballots; that one ballot was withdrawn in a legal way to make the number agree with the poll list; that then the 306 ballots were divided into five piles, two piles containing 62 ballots each, two piles 61 ballots each and one pile 60 ballots. That the said five piles were then distributed among five of the election officers, one pile to each, to be counted. That each pile was counted in the manner following:

Beginning with governor, each officer having a pile of ballots to count, assorted his ballots, putting those cast for Hoard in one pile, and those cast for Peck in one pile, those cast for May in one pile, and those cast for Alexander in one pile, and those ballots upon which no voting mark had been made for the office of governor, commonly called blank ballots, were placed by themselves in one pile. Having assorted his ballots in the manner stated, each officer counted those in each respective pile, announcing the result to a tally-keeper.

That in that manner the votes cast for each candidate were counted in the order in which they appear upon the ballots. That ordinarily after each officer had counted his ballots in the manner above stated he would exchange his pile for the pile of some other officer to be counted, and in that manner the count was verified.

We further find that the manner in which the tally was kept in said precinct made it next to impossible for the officers counting to make an error in his count for any candidate without immediate detection of the error when he announced the result of his count for each officer to the tally-keeper. For the purpose of illustrating the manner in which said tally sheet was kept we set forth herein the form in which said tally sheet was kept for the office of state senator, viz.:

NAME OF INSPECTOR.	SCOFIELD.	FETZER.	BLANKS.	TOTAL.
D. CORRY.....				62
B. ANDERLY.....				62
E. CEDER.....				61
JNO. CORRY.....				61
G. WESTMAN.....				60
Totals.....				306

We find that the ballots cast in the First ward of the city of Marinette, were correctly counted for each office and for each candidate for office, by the election officers of that precinct.

We further find that the ballots from that precinct, bear evidence upon their faces, of having been changed and altered, by placing the voting marks in spaces opposite the name of Edward Scofield, which had been left blank by the voters who cast such ballots.

We further find that the ballot envelope containing ballots from the Second precinct of the Fourth ward of the city of Marinette had been illegally and fraudulently opened while in the custody of the county clerk and before the recount for the office of state senator. That ballots therein contained, were unlawfully and fraudulently altered in the same manner that the ballots in the First ward had been altered.

We further find that the ballot envelopes from the Third precinct, the Fifth precinct, the Sixth precinct and the Seventh precinct of the town of Peshtigo, were respectively illegally and fraudulently opened while in the custody of the said county clerk, and ballots in each envelope were unlawfully and fraudulently altered before the recount for the said office of state senator.

Particularly we report that in the Sixth precinct of Peshigo there were cast eighty ballots. That for the office of statesenator there were thirty blank ballots cast, and for the office of county clerk there were thirty blank ballots cast. That upon the recount for said office of state senator and for said office of county clerk, it was found that there were but fifteen blank ballots cast for the office of state senator, and four blank ballots for the office of county clerk. We find that the ballots in that precinct were carefully and correctly counted for each candidate by experienced and competent election inspectors.

We further report that many of the changes and alterations of the ballots cast in the precincts above specified are plainly apparent and can be readily and positively detected upon the faces of said ballots.

We hereto append tabulated statements showing the result of the election in the election districts in said county above particularly specified and referred to, as shown by the original canvass thereof, for the offices of county clerk and state senator, and likewise a tabulated statement showing the result of said election for said offices in said precincts as shown by the recount had for said offices.

We further report the fact to be that the gains made by said Scofield in said several precincts by the recount decreased the number of blank votes cast for said office in number corresponding and agreeing with the number so gained. As will appear most plainly by the inspection of said tabulated statement showing the result of said recount.

We further report that because of said frauds, alterations and changes made of said ballots after the said ballots had legally come to the custody of the said county clerk and before the recount for said offices, the said recount is thereby vitiated, illegal and void, and that the original canvass of the votes cast in said county, as shown by the original returns, is correct, and truly shows the number of votes received by said Scofield for said office in said county, and the number of votes received by said Fetzner for said office in said county.

We further find from the testimony of Hon. H. O. Fairchild, that Hans B. Pouse, the county clerk, who was the custodian of said ballots, virtually admitted and conceded that the said ballots had been fraudulently and illegally altered and changed.

A copy of which testimony relating thereto we incorporate in our report as follows, to-wit:

Testimony of H. O. FAIRCHILD:

Q. "Will you state the circumstances leading up to that conversation; detail the conversation, and if such a letter was written, state the contents of the letter as near as you can remember?"

A. "Mr. Pouse came to my house about half past 8 o'clock in the morning shortly after I had finished my breakfast, and came in and said that he would like to see me."

Q. "One question there, interrupting, did you meet him upon the street and return with him to your house or did you send for him to come?"

A. "I neither sent for him, nor met him on the street previous to that conversation. He came to my house about half past 8 o'clock in the morning and said he would like to see me. I took him into my library and asked him what he wanted. He says have you seen your brother Charley. I says, about what; he says, I gave him $10 to give to you; I says, for what; he says, about this election matter; I says, I haven't seen him nor he hasn't given me any $10; he says, I thought I would come and see you about this election matter; well, I says, what do you want to see me about. What about the election matter. Well, he says, I have got a certificate of election and I want to keep the office. I says, Mr. Pouse, are you going to contest for this office. He says, well I don't know. I says to him, Mr. Pouse, do you think you have been elected to this office. Well, he says, I don't know, I have got the certificate. I says, do you think, Mr. Pouse, that any of the ballots were changed or were altered or that any marks were filled in. Well, he says, it looks like it. I says, since the recount on this office, Mr. Pouse, are you not satisfied in your own mind that those ballots had been altered. He says, it looks a good deal like it. I says, can you afford, Mr. Pouse, to take any office where there is any suspicion attaching to it that you have not been elected to it. Well, he says, I don't want to. I says, Mr. Pouse, you have been elected county clerk for two or three terms; you have always been considered an honest man; I want to know, Mr. Pouse, if you ever altered any of those ballots. He says, no; no, I never altered any ballots. Well, I says, I don't think you did. I certainly don't think you did; but are you not satisfied that they have been altered. Well, he says, it looks a good deal like it. Now, I says, Mr. Pouse, you are an old man; I know that you are poor; if you accept an office to which the people do not think you have been honestly elected, you need never to look to the people for another office, because they will never trust you; and if you take this office now under the suspicious circumstances that surround it you will never get another office in Marinette county. Well, he says, what shall I do. I says, do what any honest man would do. Well, he says, what is that.

I says decline it, Well, he says, how can I decline it. I says I would write a letter to the public and put it in the newspaper declining; that I prize my honor above any office and that there were grave suspicions in regard to whether I had been elected to this office fairly or not. That I was satisfied that the ballots had been altered, that blanks had been filled opposite my name, how many I was unable to state; but that it was uncertain whether I was elected or not and that I could not afford to take an office where there was any suspicion or dishonor about it. Well he says will you write that letter for me. I says yes. Well, he says, I wish you would. He says when can I get it. Well, I says, I don't know, I am pretty busy but I will write it in a day or two for you. I didn't see Mr. Pouse again until two or three days after. He came to my office and asked me if I had that paper. I told him not yet. I had not written it yet but I would. I would write it that night or in the morning. I think that was Saturday, possibly, and that Sunday, during Sunday sometime, I wrote this letter."

We further report that there is no evidence showing or tending to show that the said Elward Scofield was in any manner implicated in the said frauds but on the contrary we find that he is innocent of any connection with the commission thereof.

We further report that if the said Hans B. Pouse, said county clerk, is not directly and primarily responsible, that he is guilty of gross negligence in not safely keeping the said envelopes and ballots in a safe and secure place beyond the possibility of access to them by an interested party.

We further report that the said John Fetzer received a plurality of 15 votes in said senate district for said office in excess of the number of votes received by the said Edw. Scofield and that the said Fetzer was duly and legally elected to said office and is entitled to his seat as senator from the First senate district.

All of which is respectfully submitted, together with evidence and testimony used before us.

J. T. KINGSTON, Jr.,

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED.

By Sen. Kempf:

Jt. Res. No. 14, S.,

Resolved by the senate, the assembly concurring. That when the legislature adjourn to-day, it be until Tuesday morning, February 3rd at 10 o'clock.

Adopted.

By Senator Main:

Res. No. 9, S.,

WHEREAS, there was no official state paper established by law, in this state, prior to the year 1860, and the main reasons assigned for its continuance since then have been the convenience of the state departments in doing public business and the seeming necessity for a speedier publication of the laws than that afforded by the bound volumes thereof, and

WHEREAS, the assembly has declared, by the passage of bill No. 10, A., substantially, that such convenience can be best subserved, and such seeming necessity fully met by the selection as the official state paper of some newspaper published elsewhere than at the seat of government, and,

WHEREAS, it is alleged that serious inconvenience and delay may occur in the transaction of public business by the location of the official state paper elsewhere than at the capital of the state, and

WHEREAS, it is claimed with much confidence by some, that there is no need whatever of an official state paper, and that its discontinuance would save the people from eight to ten thousand dollars per year, and that its further continuance is not in the line of retrenchment and reform so ably and satisfactorily recommended by his excellency, Governor Peck, in his message, and,

WHEREAS, we believe that no radical change in the approved and long established methods of doing public business should be encouraged by the legislature until after full investigation it has become possessed of facts clearly showing that such change is demanded in the interest of good government and to promote the efficiency of the public service, now therefore,

Resolved, That the Judiciary committee be and they hereby are instructed and required to at once inquire into and investigate the whole matter of an official state paper, and the necessity and propriety of continuing such a paper, and if to be continued, where it should be located to best subserve the convenience of the people and the state departments, and whether or not any inconvenience or delay in the transaction of public business will result from the location of such paper elsewhere than at the capital of the state, and whether or not the advertising and publishing now required by law to be done in an official state paper, or some part of it, ought not to be let by contract to the lowest bidder pursuant to section 25 of article 4 of the constitution.

Resolved further, That said committee, in discharging the duties imposed upon them by these resolutions, shall have power to send for persons and papers, administer oaths, employ such expert assistants as they may think necessary, and that they report to the senate as speedily as possible upon such matters, and accompanying their report with a bill covering their recommendations respecting the same, together with their account for necessary expenses incurred in said investigation.

Lies over.

R. C. FALCONER,
Chairman.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the State of Wisconsin:

The undersigned, a minority of your committee on Privileges and Elections, to which was referred the contested election of senator from the senate district composed of the counties of Door, Marinette and Oconto, in which Mr. John Fetzer contests the right of Hon. E. Scofield to represent said district in this senate, being unable to concur with the majority of said committee in the conclusions arrived at in their report, most respectfully begs leave to submit this, his minority report in the matter of said contest.

The sitting member was elected to the office by a majority of fifty-seven votes, according to the canvass made of the votes by the district canvassing board.

This result was reached by the district board upon its canvass of the returns made to it by the several county canvassing boards of the counties composing the district. These returns were based upon a recount in each of the counties of the votes therein for the office in question. Although there was a net gain of sixteen in Door county, and of ten in Oconto county, and of seventy-two in Marinette county, for the sitting member upon the recount, fault is found by the contestant with that of Marinette county only. The returns of the precinct officers in each of the counties as canvassed by the canvassing board of the several counties showed a majority of forty-one votes in the district for the contestant. The loss to him by the recount in Door and Oconto counties was twenty six, reducing his majority to fifteen in the district, without considering the result of the recount in Marinette county. The recount of the votes thrown in the precincts of the latter county, concerning which no charge of wrong has been made, showed a net gain for the sitting member of twelve votes. These precincts and the gain in each for the sitting member upon the recount are the following:

1st precinct, 3d ward of Marinette.....	4
2d precinct, 3d ward of Marinette	3
5th ward of Marinette.....	2
1st precinct of Peshtigo.....	1
Town of Porterfield.....	1
Town of Wasaukee	1
Total.....	<hr/> 12

These precincts have not been under suspicion; no attack whatever has been made upon the recount of the votes thrown in any of them and this gain for the sitting member of twelve votes in these precincts is a lawful one and reduces the contestant's majority, as established by the precinct count, to three votes.

The gain for the sitting member in 1st and 2nd wards, the 2nd precinct of the 4th ward of the city of Marinette, and the 3rd, 5th, 6th and 7th precincts of the town of Peshtigo, upon the recount, were larger and, unassailed, leave the sitting member, with his other gains, the majority of 57 votes in the district as canvassed by the district board.

Without considering the full gain for the sitting member shown by the recount of votes thrown in precincts under suspicion, which are those above referred to as showing the largest gains for him, it will be seen that, if the same or a much smaller proportion of gains be conceded or allowed from those precincts for the sitting member as that appearing from the precincts showing gains not under suspicion, there would be a clear majority of votes for the sitting member, as but four would be needed from the suspected precincts to make a majority, the contestant's majority already being reduced by unquestioned gains for the sitting member to three votes. But the gains in the suspected precincts, by the recount, are larger; they clearly leave the sitting member with a majority of fifty-seven votes in the entire district. These gains must stand unless discarded for fraud, and, to do away with them, fraud is charged.

It is said the envelopes containing the ballots thrown in these precincts were unlawfully opened and the ballots so changed in the interest of the sitting member that a recount would show his election.

The charge is a serious one as the commission of a crime is established if the charge be proven. The proof should be convincing and clear before the charge can be said to have been established.

The envelopes containing the ballots must have been opened before any alteration of the ballots could occur.

The proof is of the strongest character that the envelopes were securely sealed and, in the judgment of the precinct officers, with such thoroughness and security that the seals could not be raised or tampered with without leaving evidence upon the envelopes of the fact. If they bore no such evidence when produced to the county canvassing board, the strongest presumption arises that they had not been tampered with. It appears that when they were produced to the board to be opened for a recount of the ballots, they were examined by counsel for the contestant in the interest of his patron. His zeal may easily be supposed. He was presumably watchful and zealous to discover and point out to the board the slightest evidence of wrong. Had there been such, it is supposable he would discover it; and he claims to have done so and to have called the board's attention to the evidence, which consisted, in his opinion, of an abrasion of the edge of the paper over-lap of the envelope, at the point where sealed to the body of the envelope, and of an appearance at the same point of some adhesive substance as though applied upon a resealing of the envelope. He called the board's attention to these appearances, and in terms, claimed that the envelope showed evidence of having been opened and resealed. Under these conditions the board would naturally give the most careful attention, the most careful scrutiny, to the envelopes and to any suspicious appearance thereon, and they all testify they did so. The envelopes were at the same scrutinized by others than the members of the board and they have testified upon the subject. Their testimony fails to support the statement of the attorney of the contestant in any particular. Nothing appeared to any of them that caused them to have any suspicion that the envelopes had been tampered with. It is incredible that the board would have been indifferent to such appearances had any existed. To preserve them, if they were any, the envelope could and doubtless would have been opened at the opposite end for the removal of the ballots. It would have been in the interest of all parties to have discovered, if possible, and to have effectually preserved for future examination every suspicious appearance upon the envelopes, for, when discovered, which would be in the very nature of things, before opening the envelopes, it could not be known whom the fraud would injure, if one had been committed. An equal anxiety must have controlled all parties in examining the envelopes, particularly when attention was called to them as bearing evidence of having been tampered with, and since only one of five who have testified to having made such examination, found anything suspicious upon any of them, it seems more reasonable to suppose that the vision of that one was rendered less certain by the interest he had in the character of a zealous and faithful representative of an absent patron, than that of others who may well be thought to have had the steady and impartial sense belonging to the judicial character in which they were serving.

To my mind the proof wholly fails to show that any of the envelopes had ever been opened after they were sealed by the precinct officers, until opened by the canvassing board upon the recount.

This alone would cause me to non concur in the conclusions of the majority report of the committee, but other reasons exist for the conclusions which I have reached and which are expressed hereafter.

Much importance is claimed for the evidence tending to show that a string was tied about a package made up of a portion of the ballots thrown in the 1st ward of the city of Marinette, and that the package so tied went into and was sealed in the envelope with the other ballots thrown in that ward, it being conceded that no string was found in the envelope when opened for the recount. This, it is claimed, supports the charge that the envelope was opened before produced to the canvassing board.

The testimony of the precinct officers to this point is conflicting. In my view the conversation about the string, said by some of the witnesses to have taken place in the room where the votes were counted, as well as the circumstance itself of tying a portion of the ballots with a string before placing them in the envelope, a proceeding wholly unusual, could not have taken place without the knowledge and notice of the three witnesses who testified to having been present when it is said to have occurred, and to have neither heard a word of the conversation or seen anything of any string. In addition to this the election officer who held the envelope while it received the ballots, was very sure the ones counted by Mr. Corry, those said to have been tied, went into the envelope separately; a package by itself. When to this is added the fact that these matters were all submitted to a jury upon the evidence of the election officers of that precinct, the jury having the advantage of the presence of the witnesses testifying upon the subject, and that the jury at least reported a disagreement (though it came to the knowledge of the committee collaterally that the jury upon this subject were unanimously of the opinion that the string story was a myth) it may well be doubted whether the whole story has not been concocted to support the claim that the envelopes had been unlawfully opened before being presented to the canvassing board.

If Mr. Corry's reasons for his, certainly unusual, proceeding of placing a string about the ballots counted by him and writing his name on the back of one of the ballots before placing them in the envelope, be considered, the improbability of the act occurring at all, increases. Warned by a presentiment he anticipates a fraudulent attempt upon the ballots and prepares for it. He must be believed fully in this matter, or thought a knave, and to believe him he must be credited with having conceived that a fraud would be attempted; that the envelope into which would be placed the ballots counted by him, would be opened and the ballots changed; that in the haste or carelessness with which it would be done, the agents committing the fraud would neglect or forget to restore a string, if he should tie one about a portion of the ballots, and when the envelope was subsequently opened to make a recount of the ballots, the absence of the string would prove the fraud and defeat the criminal purpose of its agents. All this must be supposed to have been within his calculations when, guided by the supernatural warning he had received, he found a string at hand and with it tied up the ballots he had counted.

It is not difficult, as against such statements and testimony to believe that of witnesses more in harmony with what is generally considered natural. I can not believe the story of the string.

I have stated and sufficiently reviewed, I think, the reasons upon which the claim that the ballot envelopes were wrongfully opened before the recount of the ballots in Marinette county was made, rests, viz.:

1st. The witness Holgate's testimony upon the appearance of the envelopes when produced to the canvassing board, and,

2d. The witness Corry's statements concerning the string which he claims to have tied about a package of ballots that went into the envelope holding the ballots of the First ward of Marinette.

In connection with the latter the following seems to me very pertinent: The contestant called an expert, the witness Lombard, vice president of the Stephenson National bank, of Marinette, and, with the view of still further supporting the claim that the envelope of the First ward of Marinette had been wrongfully opened and the ballots fraudulently changed, and to show that the net gain of eight made by the sitting member on the recount in that ward was owing to that change, had the expert examine each of the ballots cast in that ward and state the number of genuine and the number of spurious votes there cast for the sitting member for the office of state senator. The examination was presumably carefully made; the trained sense of the expert tested each vote thrown in that ward for the sitting member; the contestant, by calling the witness clothed him with credit and vouched for the value of his opinion. If the gain made by the sitting member in that ward was owing to spurious votes; to votes made for him by an unlawful hand after the seal of the envelope had been violated and raised, the expert would discover and betray it and declare the numbers that were spurious. What was the result? He found every vote, every mark a genuine one. One he found about which he was uncertain, but it was subsequently, by the testimony of the precinct officers shown, that one ballot had been cast in that precinct by a voter who, after partially marking his ballot, asked and had assistance from the election officers to mark the balance of his ballot, which, very reasonably in my opinion, explains and establishes as genuine, the ballot about which the expert was in doubt. Had the expert declared any number of the votes from this ward for the sitting member spurious, it would doubtless have been claimed by the contestant, and with some reason, that the expert's testimony corroborated the claim that the sitting member's gain in that ward was brought about by fraudulent opening of the envelope and an equal fraudulent tampering with the ballots. Is it unreasonable to say that, failing to find, after the most careful examination, one spurious vote in the lot, was significant evidence of the genuineness of all of them and of the fact that the envelope itself had never been wrongfully opened? For it is inconceivable that the envelope was opened and no change made in the ballots; that it was opened and the string taken out, and then re-sealed, leaving the ballots as they were. If any effect is to be given the expert's testimony, it should not be disregarded when it supports the theory of innocence and honesty, and credited only when it supports the theory of fraud. Effect should be given it as an entirety and let it determine the whole issue, or it should be wholly disregarded. Any other course would manifestly be unjust, and the inference of unfairness would naturally arise.

What is said above with regard to the result of the expert's examination and opinion of the ballots of the 1st ward of Marinette, may as truthfully be said of his examination and testimony relative to the ballots thrown in the 2nd precinct of the 4th ward of Marinette, where the sitting member on the re-count, gained thirteen, and in the 5th precinct of Peshtigo, where he gained ten votes. The expert was unable to find one spurious vote for the sitting member among the ballots cast in either of these precincts. Would it be proper to give no effect to this fact?

On the other hand it is to be considered that the ballots thrown in the 3rd, 6th and 7th precincts of the town of Peshtigo were examined by the expert. On the recount of these ballots the sitting member gained 13, 12 and 8 votes, respectively; the contestant made no gain except in the 6th, where he gained 4 votes.

The expert thinks 7 of the votes for state senator — whether for the sitting member or the contestant he does not say — in the 3rd precinct are spurious. In the 6th precinct he thinks there were 11 spurious votes, 9 for the sitting member and 2 for the contestant, and in the 7th precinct he thinks there were 4 spurious votes for state senator, but whether for the sitting member or the contestant he does not say.

The fact that he finds any votes which he thinks spurious in these precincts bears upon the question as to whether the envelopes were opened and these spurious votes made, before the recount.

If they were indeed spurious; if they were marked after the ballots were placed in the envelopes and before the recount, the envelopes containing them must have been opened for that purpose. It becomes necessary at this point to consider whether the expert's testimony can be relied on as furnishing any satisfactory evidence that the envelopes were ever wrongfully opened after they received the ballots, as his testimony where he finds votes he thinks spurious tends to support the claim that the envelopes were opened wrongfully; but where he finds the votes for this office all genuine in precincts where the gain for the sitting member was important his testimony tends as strongly to refute the idea that the envelopes had been opened and the ballots changed, and it becomes necessary to throw it out altogether, or give effect to it all. If it is thrown out altogether a part of the support to the claim that the envelopes were wrongfully open disappears. If effect be given to it all, it leaves the sitting member with a clear majority of votes for the office. The difference in the marks on the ballots, apparently in a different hand can be accounted for upon the theory that the voter had partially marked his ballot and then asked the assistance of the officers in marking the balance of the ballot. This is shown by the testimony to have frequently occurred. My own opinion is that the expert's testimony as to the genuineness of the voting marks is a less certain means of determining the question than others. It seems that when it is considered that a voter may lawfully have the assistance of the precinct officers to mark his ballot, as above indicated, thereby bringing a different hand to the ballot and perhaps a different pencil, which, occurring frequently in the same precinct, as in that of Corvitz — the 6th of Peshtigo — would explain the variation in the marks apparent on the ballots cast therein; that a ballot may be marked partly with a pen and ink and the balance with a pencil, as is shown to have been done in one of the unsuspected precincts, the 1st precinct of Peshtigo, and with an indelible pencil in part and a common pencil in part, as occurred in the 7th precinct of Peshtigo; that the voter himself may, by a change of position or by sharpening his pencil while marking his ballot, so change the form, position or character of his voting mark as to cause honest doubts as to whether the same hand made all the marks; it would seem that, considering all this and other plausible explanations of the suspicious appearance of some of the ballots, all of which are quite as consistent with the theory of honesty as with that of fraud, no case has been made which should be held to impeach the recount of the ballots in Marinette county. Certainly the conditions under which the precinct count is made are by no means favorable to any notion of accuracy, and it is no over statement I think, to say that it would be thought a rare case where a recount made as required by law, would fail to demonstrate an erroneous precinct count. But one such case occurred out of the sixteen precincts of Marinette county. Upon this branch of the subject my conclusion is that the proof fails to show that any fraudulent marking of the ballots cast in Marinette county was ever made, or that any of the envelopes were ever wrongfully opened.

I am unable to see any significance in the testimony of Mr. Fairchild relevant to this inquiry. It has seemed important to some as an admission, by a prominent member of the political party to which the sitting member belongs, that fraud had been committed upon these envelopes and ballots. If fraud may be proven by evidence of this character, there would be little security for either public measures or individuals. One would but need to hold a conversation with another in which an expression of opinion would occur that a fraud had been committed, and that would be evidence to establish the fraud itself in the courts or before a legislative committee of investigation. Mr. Fairchild had made no investigation of the facts; he expressed in a conversation with one not an interested party here, his opinion based wholly upon what had been told him by others, that there was fraud. His evidence was that known as "hearsay." As soon as the objection to his continuing the giving of such testimony was made at the trial in which it was uttered, the court excluded it. If issues of this grave character are to be determined or even effected by hearsay evidence, whose reputation or position is safe? It may be assailed and destroyed by the rancor of any enemy, or the indiscreet or ill-considered words of a friend. It should receive no consideration in the determination of this issue.

But I think the sitting member entitled to his seat upon the rule invoked by the contestant himself for the determination of this contest. It is claimed that, when it is shown that the envelopes have been unlawfully opened and the ballots tampered with, the burden changes to the sitting member to show that he received a majority of genuine votes for the office. It may, for the purpose, be conceded that the rule is correct. If the fact has been established that the envelopes were opened and the ballots changed, by what means could the sitting member show a majority of genuine votes for himself? Only by the opinion of an expert. If the contestant, under the rule invoked by him, carried the case far enough to shift the burden upon the sitting member of showing how many of the votes appearing from the ballots to have been cast for him were genuine, he did not leave the burden there, but proceeded, by calling his own expert, to establish the necessary facts to the sitting member's election; he called his expert to show how many of the votes from the suspected precincts were genuine and how many were spurious. By doing so he rendered it unnecessary for the sitting member to do so. And by doing so, the utmost he can claim to have established is that twenty-one votes cast for the office of state senator were spurious; all the rest, in the opinion of the expert, were genuine. If all the so called spurious votes were for the sitting member, they simply reduce his majority of fifty-seven, shown by the district canvass, to thirty-six. Had the sitting member called an expert and shown the same facts, he would have shown still a majority of thirty-six genuine votes in the district.

The same effect results from the testimony of the expert called by the contestant, and it becomes unnecessary for the sitting member to go further.

Stress has been laid upon what is charged as a difference between the number of blanks opposite the names of the the respective candidates for the office of state senator, as shown by the precinct count and the recount, and it is claimed by the contestant that many such blanks were fraudulently filled by placing therein a voting mark for the sitting member.

It will readily be seen that it was quite as likely that the precinct officers in making their count during the night following the labors of the day of election, would make a mistake in calling a blank as well as in calling a vote for any particular candidate. If they made mistakes in calling a vote for a wrong candidate, which it is certain was many times done, why is it claimed they would not make the same mistake in calling a blank for a senator when a vote should have been called? The likelihood is quite as great in either case. If this was done, if a voting mark was indeed opposite a candidate's name and it was called and tallied as a blank, would not the mistake be corrected on a recount, and in every such case would not the number of blanks for that office reported by the precinct officers, be reduced precisely to the same extent that a gain in votes was made for the office? It all comes back to the question, was the precinct count more likely to be correct, made under the circumstances it was necessary to make it under, by tired, and in many instances by aged officers and always by lamp or candle light, than a recount made by natural light under conditions precluding the possibility of errors? It is a fact known to the entire committee that the position of the names of the candidates for this office was such upon the ballot that they were more likely than any others on the ballot to escape not only the notice of the precinct officer who called it on the count, but that of the voter himself. An examination of any number of ballots will quickly render apparent this fact. It was observed and commented on by all the members of the committee with reference to the ballots cast in Marinette county. The voter after voting for his candidate for all the offices in the first column of names on the ballot, in beginning on the next would, and did, in many cases, begin with the names of candidates for county offices, and this, it was thought, and correctly, I think, to be owing to the fact that the words "County Officers," in large letters, appeared almost at the top of the second column. The eye would seem to catch those words and go no higher, and the voter would mark from them down. Yet right above those words, and the only names above them in that column, were those of the candidates for the legislative offices. The tendency to this was too apparent to escape notice, and it was thought that many votes were lost to this office from it. It is not seen why the precinct officer in making his call of votes for candidates, would not be as likely in many instances, for the same reason, to miss calling a vote for state senator. As the votes on the ballots were not counted or called a second time, no mistakes were corrected, but all were carried into the returns and corrections were not and could not be made until the recount was had. Under these conditions is there any special reason for attributing the quality of infallibility to a precinct officer's count or call of either a voting mark or a blank? If a vote was marked for senator and not called it was a blank and so returned. When corrected by the recount each correction meant one more vote and one less blank for state senator, and as the sitting member was the republican candidate, and Marinette county a republican county, it was more than likely that in a large majority of such instances the vote so missed on the first count was a vote for the sitting member. This would very rationally account for the fact that when the corrections were made by the recount, the gains were almost all for him.

RECAPITULATION.

By the precinct returns contestant's majority in the district was	41
Sitting member's gain in Door county, on the recount.	16
Sitting member's gain in Oconto county on the recount	10
Total gain for sitting member in two last named counties.	26
This would leave contestant, without considering the Marinette county recount, a majority still of	15
Sitting member gained in Marinette county, on recount, in precincts not under suspicion and not contested	12
This reduces the contestant's majority on the precinct count to.	3

And in 2nd precinct, 4th ward, city of Marinette.	13
And in 5th precinct of Peshtigo.	10

The expert was unable to find one spurious vote upon the ballots in these precincts, and if the sitting member's gains in the 3d, 6th and 7th precincts of Peshtigo (which amount to 33), in all of which precincts the expert claims to find spurious votes, are wholly disregarded, the sitting member's gains in the 1st ward and 2nd precinct of 4th ward of Marinette, and 5th precinct of Peshtigo where none but genuine votes were found by the expert, which gains amount to 31, would show a majority for him of	27
The contestant coming to those precincts with but a precinct majority of.	3

A careful painstaking review of the testimony since the last meeting of the committee confirms me in the conviction that the sitting member is clearly entitled to the seat which he now holds, and would respectfully ask the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Hon. E. Scofield is entitled to the seat now occupied by him as a member of this senate.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

E. I. KIDD,
Minority of Committee.

The undersigned, a minority of the committee on Education, to whom was referred assembly bill No. 1, begs leave to dissent from the report of the majority of that committee, for the following reasons:

Chapter 519, of the general laws of 1889, which it is proposed to repeal, is, as I understand it, all the compulsory education law now on the statutes, and all the law regulating child labor, in factories, shops, mines, etc. While the law of 1889 is manifestly defective, no one pretends that it has in the two years during which it has been in force, worked any hardships to any of the people of this state, or any interference with any school.

The principle of compulsory education which has in certain European countries produced such desirable results in the education of the entire people, in the elementary branches of learning, and in the language of the country, this principle was made the policy of this state, and incorporated into our statutes during the session of 1879, and has been the law of this state ever since.

Chapter 519, of the laws of 1889, was an attempt by those who favored this policy, to make the statute more comprehensive and more effective.

A very widespread and general misunderstanding of the purpose of this act, took place among that class of our citizens who were of foreign birth, many of whom, notably those from Germany and Norway, owed their ability to read and write in any language to the very principles of this law.

Certain men in "some quarters" for partisan ends, fostered this misunderstanding, until the question of the repeal of the law became a political issue, and was decided at the last election in favor of its repeal.

The minority of your committee does not believe that the people of this state, in this action, intend to abandon the principle of compulsory education in the elementary branches of learning, since all the political parties declared for it in their platforms of principles, or that they are unwilling, that the state shall insist that it must be in the legal language of the country, at least to an extent which shall compel those having charge of children, as parent or guardian, to teach them to read and write English; or that the people of this state are ready to abandon the idea, that the state has the right, and should exercise it, of regulating the employment of children, at a tender age, in factories, shops and mines; or that they are indifferent to the practice by which some soulless corporations seek to increase their gains, by employing cheap child labor at tasks, which should be performed by adults, and such children be sent to school.

And in accordance with these views the minority of your committee respectfully submits the following amendment to bill No. 1, A., which amendment, it is believed by this minority, removes all reasonable objections to chapter No. 519, general laws of 1889, and corrects what seems to him, would be a serious defect in our educational laws, should said chapter 519 be entirely repealed. And the minority of your committee earnestly recommends that this minority report be adopted.

Amend No. 1, A., as follows:

Strike out section 2, and insert the following:

SECTION 1. Chapter 519, of the laws of the state of Wisconsin, for the year 1889, entitled "an act concerning the education and employment of children," be, and the same is hereby repealed.

SECTION 2. Every parent, guardian or other person having under his control a child between the ages of seven and thirteen years, shall cause said child to attend some public, private or parochial school during the school year, of of each year, for a period of not less than twelve weeks.

SECTION 3. Any such child shall be excused from attendance at school required by this act, by the county judge of the county where such child resides, or the board of education or school district board of the city, town, or district, in which such child resides, upon its being shown to their satisfaction that the person so neglecting is not able to send such child to school, or that instruction has otherwise been given for a like period of time to such child in the elementary branches commonly taught in the public schools, or that such child has already acquired such elementary branches of learning, or that his physical or mental condition is such as to render attendance inexpedient or impracticable, and in all cases where such child shall be so excused the penalty herein provided shall not be incurred. And in every prosecution under the provisions of sections one and four of this chapter if it shall be proven to the satisfaction of the court or jury trying said cause, that such person is not able to send such child to school, or that instruction has otherwise been given for a like period of time to such child in the elementary branches commonly taught in the public schools, or that such child has already acquired such elementary branches of learning, or that his physical or mental condition is such as to render attendance inexpedient or impracticable; the person so prosecuted shall be acquitted, whether any such excuse shall have been given or not.

SECTION 4. Five days prior to the beginning of any prosecution under this act, such board shall cause a written notice to be personally served upon such person having control of any such child of his duty under this act, and of his default in failing to comply with the provisions thereof, and if, upon the hearing of such prosecution, it shall appear to the satisfaction of the judge of the court or school board of the district, town or city, that before or after the receipt of such notice, such person has caused such child to attend a school as provided in this act, in good faith, and with intent to continue such attendance, then the penalty provided by this act shall not be incurred.

SECTION 5. Every parent or other person having under his control a child between the ages of seven and thirteen years shall furnish it such instruction in the English language, as shall enable it to read and write the same, but this act shall not be construed to prohibit the teaching of any other language or branches of learning.

SECTION 6. Any person violating any of the provisions of the foregoing sections shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than three dollars nor more than twenty dollars.

SECTION 7. Any child between the age of seven and thirteen years, who, without leave and against the will of his parent, guardian or other person having the right to control such child, habitually absents himself from the school to which he is sent or directed to be sent, and is beyond the control of his parent or guardian or other person having the right to control such child in that regard, shall be deemed a truant child, and on such truancy being alleged and proved, such truant child shall be adjudged a dependent child in like manner as is now provided by law, for the adjudication of dependent children, and on being so adjudged dependent may be committed in like manner for such time not exceeding two years, as the judge or court having the jurisdiction of the matters may determine. Any child so committed may, upon proof of amendment, or for other sufficient cause shown upon a hearing of the case, be discharged by such judge or court at any time; but such child shall not be confined after the age of thirteen years, nor shall he be bound or apprenticed nor placed out of any school to which he shall be committed.

SECTION 8. No child under thirteen years of age shall be employed or allowed to work by any person, company, firm or corporation, at labor or service in any shop, factory, mine store, place of manufacture, business or amusement except as hereinafter provided.

SECTION 9. The judge in the county court in the county or the board of education, or the school district board where the child resides or is to be employed, or to work, may, by order of record, grant a permit to any child over ten years of age, exempting such child from the operation of this act as to such employment, and to such extent and for such time and on such terms as may be named in such permit, on its being shown to the satisfaction of the judge or the school district board that it is fit and proper considering the lack of means of support of the family of which such child is a member, that such permit should be granted, and such permit may be rescinded by any such judge on written notice to such child, or to any person having control of or employing such child. Such permit must state the age, place of attendance and amount of school attendance prior to the granting of such permit. A record of such permit to be kept in such court. No charge or fee shall be required in any matter under this section.

SECTION 10. No child shall be so employed or work who does not present such permit, and every person before employing or permitting such child to so labor or be at service, shall require and retain such permit, and shall keep the same together with a correct list of all children so employed, and shall show such list on demand to any school officer or teacher or police officer.

SECTION 11. Any person, or company, or corporation or officer thereof who employs or permits to be employed or to work any child in violation of this act, and any person having the control of any such child who permits such employment or work, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined a sum of not less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars.

SECTION 12. Any person convicted for any violation of any of the provisions of this act shall have the right of appeal.

Section 13. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

Section 14. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

And also recommend that the title to said bill No. 1, A., be amended to conform to the body of the bill as amended so as to read as follows:

COMMUNICATIONS TO THE SENATE.

By Senator Taylor:

To the Honorable, the Legislature of Wisconsin:

Pursuant to the requirements of the statutes of Wisconsin I herewith respectfully report the amount of logs, timber and lumber measured by me for the two years ending on this date, to wit: Eight million five hundred and ten thousand seven hundred and forty-eight feet (8,510,748). I take the liberty of calling attention to the provisions of chapter 266 of the laws of Wisconsin for the year 1885 requiring loggers to make reports at this office, etc. This is practically a dead letter for the reason that no penalties are imposed for a non-compliance with the law, and no person engaged in cutting logs in this district has ever made any report of any kind.

The great bulk of the logging and lumbering in this district is done by non-residents, who do not pretend to pay any attention to the requirements of the laws of Wisconsin that can be avoided. And I respectfully suggest that a more stringent statute be enacted that will meet the requirements of the case.

None of the logs cut on the St. Croix and its tributaries are ever scaled by Wisconsin scalers, after entering the limits of the St. Croix Boom Company, and if this is a proper subject for state control, laws that can be enforced should, in my judgment, be enacted.

The logs in this district that are floated to market, necessarily run into the boom at Stillwater, Minn., for scaling, assorting and delivery, which boom is owned, operated and controlled by Minnesota parties. The logs are scaled exclusively by officials of the state of Minnesota, and under the present statutes of Wisconsin, there seems to be no remedy.

And I respectfully call attention to the fact that the fees allowed by chapter 266, laws of 1885, (3 cents per thousand feet) is not a reasonable compensation therefor. Mileage in my judgment should be allowed when required to travel 25 miles or more to scale logs or lumber, as an inspector is sometimes called upon to travel quite a long distance to scale a small lot of logs, the fees for which would likely not pay the expense of the trip.

Dated Hudson, Wis., Jan. 24th, 1891.

ROBT. DOWNEND,
Inspector of Logs and Lumber,
4th Wis. District.

MINORITY REPORT.

The undersigned, members of your committee on Charitable and Penal Institutions, being unable to agree with the majority in its report on 16, S., entitled, "a bill to abolish the state board of supervision and the state board of charities and reform, and to create the state board of control of reformatory, charitable and penal institutions, and making an appropriation therefor," beg leave to submit the following report:

The institutions in charge of the board of supervision are economically and humanely managed. Our system of control over the various charitable, penal and reformatory institutions of the state, established and carried out by the State Board of Charities and Reform, has brought them to a degree of excellence which is not surpassed by those of any other state in the Union.

The "Wisconsin system" of treatment of the chronic insane has given our state a leading rank with regard to the treatment of this class of unfortunates, and a reputation which has reached even beyond the confines of our country.

These facts are conceded by all, and it appears to this minority, that such an excellent condition of affairs should not be disturbed, except for two reasons, first, because something better has been devised; and second on account of pecuniary saving; and the latter only if it is combined with no retrogressive movement.

The bill in question offers the theory that six members of one board can as efficiently manage and regulate these charges, as the two separate boards now existing. Without any argument as to the correctness of this theory, the minority holds that it is at the best, only a theory, which may or may not produce the results claimed for it by its advocates, while the present state of affairs, is a condition which stands beyond dispute upon its merits, approved by experience and tested by time.

The minority, however, does not believe that a single board of six members can serve the purpose as well as the two separate boards now do. The duties of the State Board of Supervision are specifically business duties. Its members attend to the purchase of all materials used for the maintenance of the unfortunates in their charge, employ the officials and attendants, etc., and look after an economical and humane management of the institutions intrusted to them.

The Board of Charities and Reform inspects all the state institutions, including those supervised by the Board of Supervision, county jails, prisons, police stations, poor-houses and asylums, both public and private, with a view of ascertaining if they are humanely conducted and are correcting any evils that may exist therein.

The difference in the duties of these two boards, this minority holds, necessarily have important bearing upon the selection of the members of each, their training and inclinations. From the standpoint of economy, the subject does not merit discussion.

The expenses of the State Board of Supervision for 1889 were $13,116.39. For 1890 they were $13,248.54.

The expenses of the Board of Charities and Reform for 1889 were $8,139.46. In 1890 they were $7,548.88.

When it is understood that the expense of the State Board of Supervision, as stated, includes salaries of five members at $2,000 each, and the salary of the secretary at $2,000, or in all, $12,000, it becomes needless to say the expenses of this board, or any other five persons similarly employed, cannot be reduced.

The expenses of the State Board of Charities and Reforms, in case it were abolished, would in part fall upon the new board, as proposed by the bill under consideration, as for instance: salary of the secretary amounting to $1,500; salary of additional member amounting to $2,000; and as the new board would be compelled to travel about the state in the fulfillment of the duties now incumbent upon the State Board of Charities and Reforms, it is safe to assume that $1,500 more would be required for that purpose, making in all the sum of $5,000 additional cost, which must be added to the expenses of the present Board of Supervision, in calculating the annual expenses of the new board, on account of its increased membership and additional duties.

Deducting this amount from the average annual expense of the State Board of Charities and Reform during the past two years, which has been $7,844.17, would leave an apparent saving by the abolishment of this board, and the creation of the board proposed by the bill under consideration, of $2,844.17.

The minority holds that this is not sufficient to warrant so radical a change, but recommends that changes be made in the law governing the State Board of Charities and Reform, which would reduce its expenses in the future in this amount or even more.

For these reasons your minority respectfully dissents from the report of the majority, and recommends that the same be not adopted.

WM. PIERRON.

COMMUNICATIONS TO THE LEGISLATURE.

By Senator Main:

To the Legislature of the State of Wisconsin:

The undersigned begs leave respectfully to represent: That a great majority of the children of the country complete their education and graduate from the common school.

There being no text-book in use, giving instruction in natural philosophy and mechanics, in which algebra and geometry are not introduced, and therefore beyond the comprehension and understanding of scholars in those schools, and if unable to pursue the higher branches of education, they enter upon the business of life, having learned nothing of the laws governing the simplest objects of nature, with which they are surrounded and come in daily familiar contact.

The undersigned having prepared a small primary work upon those branches of learning arranged and simplified so as to be easily understood by children studying geography, and intended as a course to accompany or follow that study in common schools, desires to submit the same to the consideration of your committee on education, to the end, that if the work be found to have merit, it may be printed by the state printer, and sold by the state to scholars at cost of publication and distribution.

Respectfully submitted,
SIMEON MILLS.

Respectfully submitted,

R. N. ROBERTS,

Treasurer, Wisconsin Veterans' Home.

Dated Waupaca, Wis., February 13th, 1891.

The permanent committee on Veterans' Home reported as follows:

Your committee on the Veterans' Home would respectfully report that they have examined the report of the trustees of said Home showing their receipts and disbursements, and find the same to be correct.

Your committee further report that they have visited the Home during the previous week, inspected the same and noted the improvements made during the past year, and while your committee approve of all the work done and improvements made they would particularly notice the following: A new and commodious barn at an expense of $1,006.50, in place of the dilapidated structure heretofore called the barn; a dining hall with dormitories in the second story, a commodious and truly elegant building at a cost of $7,829.50. Our wonder is that the same could be constructed for that sum.

A complete, and it seems to us, a perfect system of water works, for $6,541.23.

A sewerage system, to which nothing can be added, costing $1,589.06.

An ice house perfect in its details at $520.12.

A headquarters building well adapted to the purposes for which it is needed, costing $5,445.90.

A good system of steam heating and plumbing at an expense of $2,815.85 and $1,161.15, respectively. A well equipped laundry, $1,035.95. General improvements of the grounds at an expense of $2,265.89. Cottages erected costing $5,539.49.

In short, we think the generous appropriation of $50,000 made by the state and the donations of over $2,500 for cottages have been wisely and economically expended by the trustees, and your committee would commend the trustees for the very efficient work they have done, the same having been rendered gratuitously—the trustees having been only reimbursed for actual expenses, and as expressing our opinion we refer to and adopt the views expressed in the commander's address in reference to the home under the head of conclusion: First, second, third and fourth.

Your committee would further state—that while the report of the trustees under the head of appropriation account, shows that on the 31st of December, 1889, there was a balance of $424.63 in the hands of the treasurer, yet at the same time there was and is outstanding indebtedness of $3,000 incurred by mortgage on the property of the home—and a further indebtedness of about $1,200 on account of improvements.

Your committee would further state that during the past year three double and eighteen single cottages have been erected, and that all of the cottages except seven are fully furnished.

Of the work done by the W. R. C. during the past year in connection with the home, your committee are not fully informed, but we do know that they have done much, that they have done good work, and have been of invaluable service in efficient aid rendered and that the hearty thanks of this Encampment are due them.

The term of two of the trustees, R. N. Roberts and B. F. Bryant expires at this time, and your committee would recommend as their successors R. N. Roberts and W. H. Upham.

The reference made in report above is to the following portion of the annual address of the department commander:

WISCONSIN VETERANS' HOME.

On the 13th of February, in company with Assistant Adjutant General E. B. Gray, we visited the Wisconsin Veterans' Home, at Waupaca, and thoroughly inspected the grounds, buildings and improvements made by the board during the last year, as well as the methods of management of inmates, the way in which they are fed, roomed, clothed and cared for in general.

Our conclusions, concisely stated, are as follows:

First. The number and excellence of the improvements made with the amount of money available for such work is wonderful. We think no public institution anywhere has accomplished so much that is permanent and fitted to the purpose intended with so little money.

Second. The rules adopted by the board for the government of inmates are lenient and as little repressive as is possible to secure cleanliness and proper deportment.

Third. There are 40 cottages, an immense dining room seating 240 people, with dormitories for single women over it, a well equipped hospital, Marden Hall, the old hotel building renovated and used for club room, library and barracks for single men—a complete steam laundry, a fine building for use of the superintendent and offices of the board, and a system of water works as good as any in the country. These were all carefully inspected, kitchen, store-rooms, closets, bath-rooms, and the variety and quality of food supplied as well as the clothing issued, and we are pleased to say that such is the condition of the whole institution, in every department, as to reflect credit upon the board of managers, the superintendent, Captain Caldwell, and his excellent wife, the matron.

Fourth. This home is one in fact and not alone in name. It is a monument to the order more lasting than could be reared of granite or metal, and if the department will continue its management by those who have only its welfare at heart, as has the present board, it must continue to be for many years not only a place of rest during the closing years of many of our old comrades and their wives and widows, (the average age of the inmates being now for the men 65 and the women 61 years,) but it will be a model for other departments to imitate when they desire the best results for the least expenditure. It would be proper in this connection to state that Mrs. Libbie C. Baer, of Appleton, one of the board of visitors to the Veterans' Home, appointed by the last convention of the department of W. R. C., and confirmed by the department encampment, made a lengthy and interesting report to the department of a visit made by her to that institution in October last. She spent about one week in the inspection of the home, talked freely with the inmates as to their care and treatment, visited the inmates of the cottages and examined the methods employed at the home. She says: "We were delighted with the general appearance of things, and could not help admiring, as everyone does who visits the home, the general neatness that prevails, and the clock-like precision with which the work is carried on. In every instance I found the complaints made without foundation. All seemed happy and contented." She then refers to the interest taken in the institution by the management in flattering terms. Mrs. Baer made no charge against the department for expenses, and expressed her desire to render any assistance within her power for the good of the Home.

The legislature last winter appropriated $50,000 to the Home, and a clause in the act granting the same gives us to understand that the Department is expected to deed to the state the realty, with the provision in the deed that the G. A. R. is to have full control of the management as in the past. I therefore recommend that suitable action be taken by this Encampment to fulfil the requirements of the law as well as the promises made. I trust that before this encampment shall close, a resolution of thanks will be given the W. R. C and the board of trustees especially for their self-sacrificing labor and thought which has brought this institution to its present excellent condition without financial remuneration to them.

Senator Clawson rose to a personal explanation, and said In the Evening Wisconsin of March 5th inst., I am reported as saying that our reverend chaplain, Rev. Mr. McAtee plagiarized the Lord's prayer, and the inference is that such statement was made on the floor of the senate. This statement, Mr. President, is wholly without foundation. I made no such remark, either on the floor of this honorable senate or off the floor. I said nothing whatever here or elsewhere of the kind or import. And having the most profound respect and veneration for religion, I feel that it is due to the dignity of this honorable senate that a misstatement of so serious a character on the part of one of the reporters of a leading journal of this state should be corrected.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

REPORT OF JOINT VISITING COMMITTEE.

To the Honorable the Legislature of Wisconsin:

The undersigned, a committee appointed by Gov. W. D. Hoard, to visit the Charitable, Reformatory and Penal Institutions of the state, beg leave to submit the following report:

The institutions coming under this head are, the State Public School at Sparta, the State Hospital for Insane at Mendota, the Northern Hospital for Insane at Winnebago, the School for the Blind at Janesville, the School for the Deaf and Dumb, at Delavan, the Industrial School for Boys at Waukesha, and the State Prison at Waupun. Besides these, your committee visited the Industrial School for Girls at Milwaukee, at the request of the board of managers of that institution.

The former institutions are under the control of the Board of Supervision, whilst the latter, although it is owned entirely by the state, is managed by a local board of managers.

Your committee found all these institutions well managed, with due regard to a proper treatment of the inmates as well as economy. It also examined the books and system of accounts and control of the Board of Supervision and so far as it can judge from the necessarily superficial examination, is prepared to report that the same are well kept and the system is both comprehensive and clear.

Some of these institutions are overcrowded, notably so the State Prison at Waupun, the Industrial School for Boys at Waukesha, the Industrial School for Girls at Milwaukee, and the State Public School at Sparta.

The State Prison is an old-fashioned, and in the opinion of your committee an illy constructed building.

A general dining hall for the prisoners is needed, and your committee believes that in the line of prison reform, such an addition would be a move in the right direction.

Under the present arrangements, the prisoners are supplied with their food, when they come from the workshops, at the entrance to the prison, and take it to their cells for solitary consumption. Besides the objections which might be urged against this method of feeding prisoners from a humane standpoint, it is conducive to uncleanness in the cells, and in fact in the aisles leading thereto, on account of the spilling of food whilst it is being conveyed through them, and in the cells whilst it is being consumed.

The dungeons or dark cells, which are still used in the State Prison for the purpose of punishment and for reducing refractory prisoners to obedience, are a relic of barbarism, which, in the opinion of your committee, should be abolished. The construction of these cells, projecting as they do into the open air with nothing between the prisoner and the temperature of out doors but a stone wall, would seem to cause the infliction of suffering upon the prisoner within, especially during the prevalence of low temperature in winter, which borders closely on to physical torture.

It is a fact that when a prisoner has been in the cell for a number of hours on a cold day, when the door is open the walls on the inside are covered with a coat of frost caused by the exhalation of the prisoner within and the cold without.

As already stated above, in the opinion of your committee, the dungeon should go.

Another objectionable feature is the retention of insane convicts in the cells of the state prison. When a convict, no matter what may have been his crime or the cause of his incarceration, has crossed the borders of sanity, every reason for further punishment has disappeared, and he should be regarded from that time on only as an unfortunate and treated accordingly. Objection is raised to the transfer of insane criminals to our State Hospital for the Insane on the ground that these insane criminals are for some reasons objectionable to the other insane. These objections may or may not be well founded; yet your committee believe that no time should be lost in establishing if necessary a separate ward for the reception of this class of unfortunates in our state hospitals so that they may be properly and humanely cared for.

Owing to the overcrowded condition of the prison it has become occasionally necessary to place two prisoners in one cell. This condition is objectionable, both from the standpoint of good morals as well as discipline. Something should be done at once to relieve this difficulty. Your committee believes that there should be established an intermediate prison where young criminals who have been convicted on the first offense could be placed with a view of reformation. The placing of these young men who may perhaps have become criminals, not from instinct, but from a lack of proper training or other reasons, in association with hardened criminals, not only provides the possibility but rather has a tendency to educate them for further crimes and viciousness.

At the Northern Hospital for the Insane and the State Hospital for the Insane you committee found a lack of proper facilities for the removal of inmates in case of fire. It is true that there are now so called fire escapes in each of these institutions, but they are, in the opinion of your committee, entirely inadequate for the purpose. They are constructed in shafts within the building, which shafts would, in case of fire, as doors lead to them from the various wards, become an attraction to smoke and flames. Good and secure escapes on the outside of these two institutions should be constructed at once. The inmates of our hospitals for insane are now employed as far as it is practicable, at work upon the farm and at household duties. It is a well established fact that employment is essential for the well-being of the insane. In fact, it has a great influence upon the cure of that malady. As the employment now afforded to the insane at our state hospitals, is necessarily confined to a limited number and to a limited time, your committee believes that immediate steps should be taken for the inauguration of a system of employment which would give permanent occupation during all seasons of the year to all those whose condition makes it available.

A strip of land adjoining the grounds of the Northern Hospital for the Insane on the north is for sale, and your committee recommends that it be purchased if it can be obtained at a reasonable price.

Likewise a tract of about twenty-seven acres lying south of the School for the Blind.

The State Public School at Sparta needs a new dining hall, an additional cottage, additional school facilities and better accommodation for the attendants and servants of the school. The committee recommends that $32,000 be appropriated for these purposes.

At the Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb, a water tower is needed which would hold sufficient water for the protection of the building in case of fire, as well as to afford a proper supply of its daily demands. Iron water reservoirs are now situated directly under the roof of the building. They hold an insufficient quantity of water and would hardly be available in case of fire in the building, besides an occasional overflow damages the property of the state and therefore security to the property of the state if not to the lives of the inmates and good economy demand that these improvements be made; $5,000.00 will be the amount needed for that purpose. Your committee earnestly recommends the appropriation of this amount also.

The Industrial School for Boys at Waukesha needs an additional cottage and school facilities.

The Industrial School for Girls at Milwaukee, is perhaps most crowded of any of our state institutions. It sorely needs an additional building and an improved system of heating. This institution, in addition to affording a home for dependent children has gradually drifted into an asylum for wayward females.

Young girls between the ages of fourteen and eighteen are placed there by the courts at times in order to save them from exposure and danger, and at times for correction. Much good has been accomplished in this branch of charity, and many a young woman blesses the day when she was taken to the Milwaukee Industrial School.

The ladies in charge of this institution who are conducting their work from the impulses of the noblest charity, call attention to the necessity of some institution on a larger scale under perhaps the title of a "Woman's Reformatory," for the unfortunates and criminals of this class. It may be that the possibilities of the present do not permit of the realization of this idea, yet it is a subject which your committee feels bound to suggest to your earnest and careful consideration.

In conclusion your committee desires to express its thanks for the kindly assistance of the State Board of Supervision, the Board of Charities and Reform, and the officers and employes of the various institutions visited, and to acknowledge on their part an appreciation of the nobility of their task and the fulfillment of their arduous, and at many times unpleasant duties in so efficient a manner.

EXECUTIVE COMMUNICATIONS.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Madison, Wisconsin,
MARCH 24th, 1891.

To the Honorable, the Senate:

The following entitled bill, originating in the senate, has been approved, signed and deposited in the office of the secretary of state:

No. 121, S.,

An act to revise and amend an act, entitled, "An act to incorporate the city of Two Rivers."

GEO. W. PECK.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Madison, Wisconsin,
MARCH 24th, 1891.

To the Honorable the Senate:

I herewith return bill No. 22, S., entitled, "An act to appropriate to the Wisconsin Veteran's Home at Waupaca, a sum of money herein named," without my approval in its present form.

While heartily in accord with the legislature and the people of the state, as to the wisdom of appropriating such a sum to the Veterans' Home as may be needed to make the inmates comfortable, there are some serious objections to this bill, which I will point out, and I feel that you will agree with me.

This bill appropriates to the Wisconsin Veterans' Home at Waupaca the sum of fifty thousand five hundred dollars. This association is a private corporation, organized for the very laudible purpose of establishing and maintaining a home for destitute soldiers, sailors and marines, their wives and widows, residing in this state, who cannot be admitted to the National Homes for disabled volunteers, and to secure to them in their old age and infirmity the comforts and care to which their service to the country in its days of danger entitles them.

The corporation is nominally, at least, established under the auspices of the military order of the Grand Army of the Republic. It is understood that considerable assistance to its maintenance has been contributed by private persons. The state appropriated fifty thousand dollars two years ago for the purpose of erecting and equipping buildings; and by a permanent appropriation made in 1887, the state pays three dollars per week per capita towards the support of each inmate. The object of the association is highly commendable. It is in a sense a public object, for it is to provide for a class of persons in their old age and helplessness, whom the state is under peculiar and special obligations to care for. It is a private corporation ostensibly, and yet the public are to provide in the larger part for its maintenance. It is not a state institution, to be under state control, but yet it is a state institution to be under state support. The state allowance for the support of its inmates far exceeds the reported cost of their maintenance. The state is expected to provide chiefly for the expenditures for buildings, but the state, the principal contributor, is studiously denied all supervision or control. The mode and direction of expenditure, the objects of the bounty, the power of visitation, regulation and watchfulness for the interests of the state and of the beneficiaries of its generosity, are committed to private persons. The people, through the chosen agents of their sovereignty, are deemed worthy to give, but not to watch nor to guard.

It is true that the bill makes some show of securing the state against the possible misapplication of the money. It is provided that the treasurer of the home shall give a bond, but the obligation to be given is, in view of the context of the bill, a useless formality. It may guard against the personal defalcation of the treasurer, but it does not secure a faithful application, such as the state should be guaranteed.

Section 1, of the bill reads as follows:

"There is hereby appropriated to the Wisconsin Veteran's Home at Waupaca, out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, and for the uses and purposes herein mentioned, as follows:

To pay indebtedness of said home already incurred	$6,000
For additional buildings, as follows:
Old men's building	10,000
Old people's building	10,000
Women's hospital, dead house, extension to general hospital, heating apparatus and furniture	11,000
Clothing for inmates	2,000
Electric light system	6,500
Office building and vault	1,000
Cemetery and ground improvement	3,000
Purchase of additional land	1,000
Total	$50,500

or such other improvements or articles as may be certified by the president and secretary of the board of trustees of said home."

The entire discretion as to the expenditure is given by the last clause of this section to two members of the board of trustees. They may "certify such improvements and articles" as they see fit, and the treasurer must pay out accordingly. This is a wide discretion, loosely conferred upon only a part of the board of trustees. A more effectual absolution from responsibility it is not easy to conceive, and I deem this loose and improvident legislation. For any other object, however worthy, such a bill could not be passed. No other body of men, however distinguished for public service or private merit, could successfully ask of any legislature such a large gift, with such illy-guarded disposal of the money given. It is not to be tolerated in our system that moneys taken from the people by the processes of taxation, shall be committed, without check or guard as to the dispensing, to individual caprice or discretion. The bestowal of public money to private persons to be expended through private agency, even for purposes incidentally beneficial to the public, has ever been regarded as a dangerous stretch of legislative power, of doubtful constitutionality, and unwise and mischievous in precedent; a departure from sound principles of government. When moneys are thus to be applied, and especially when a private charity is to be administered at public cost, it is at least the duty of the legislature to throw about such expenditure every safeguard and every guaranty which the law can afford, that the benefaction of the state shall be faithfully applied to the true purpose of the bestowal. It is not enough that the managers are deemed honest, high-minded men. The state has no right to give away the people's money and abdicate all discretion in its expenditure. There is a duty of careful supervision and limitation of such expenditures, which is owed as well to the soldiers, their wives and widows, for whom this home is maintained, as to the tax payers who must bear the burden. It is peculiarly for the interest of those for whom this Home is designed, that there be no laxity permitted, no discretion loosely conferred, no irresponsibility tolerated. The jealousy of the people should not be aroused against the institution, nor suspicion cast on those who conduct it. They ought not to shake public confidence by demanding that the state simply give, and leave the rest to them. Such claim of exemption from responsibility and reasonable supervision, is very sure soon to chill the generous impulses of a commonwealth, ever willing to give wisely and safely for every just object of its care.

The legislature of 1889 made an appropriation of fifty thousand dollars for this Home. It was in a sense conditional. The act (chapter 264, laws 1889), provided that the acceptance by the Home of the money appropriated should vest the title to the real estate of the Home in the state of Wisconsin, subject to the right of the Home to have the use and enjoyment and possession of said real estate as a home for soldiers, etc., as long as such Home shall use said real estate for such purposes; and said Wisconsin Veterans' Home shall convey said real estate to the state of Wisconsin by good and sufficient warranty deed, in accordance with the spirit and intent of this act, within one year.

The deed executed as a pretended compliance with this act, falls far short of satisfying either its intent or spirit. It conveys the property to the state subject to a mortgage, which it expressly provides that the state shall pay. The corporation also executes not a "good and sufficient warranty deed," but a conveyance, clogged with the following conditions: "Subject, however, to the condition that said premises and land shall be used for and devoted to the maintenance of a home for dependent union soldiers and sailors, their wives and widows; and to the maintenance of such other persons as said grantee shall, by law, be authorized to maintain on said premises, and if said premises shall cease to be used for such purpose or purposes, or for some other charitable purpose, then and in such case the city of Waupaca, having contributed to the purchase of said property the sum of seven thousand five hundred dollars, shall have an interest in said property, or the proceeds thereof to that amount." The clear title that the state was to have is at the outset sought to be encumbered to the amount of over ten thousand five hundred dollars, and that amount charged upon the state.

Viewed in the most charitable light, and attributing to those acting for the home the best of motives, it cannot be glossed over that an attempt has been made to deal unfairly with the state, to trifle with its laws, to saddle upon its burdens it had not assumed, and to becloud and encumber its title to the property. Such looseness and disregard of law on the part of state officials would call down upon them the severest censure if nothing worse. Such dealings between individuals would be regarded as a gross breach of good faith. They evince a failure to appreciate the obligations of legal duty, which are a very poor recommendation for those who claim the prerogative of dispensing the bounty of the state with unlimited discretion. However worthy the object, however zealous in a good cause its promoters may be, there is no justification or excuse for departing from the law, and attempting a fraud upon the state. Where such spirit and purpose are apparent it is no fit repository of the public money with no check or guard upon its expenditure.

The management of this Home is in theory, intrusted to a board of seven trustees, elected annually by the Grand Army of the Republic. In fact, and from the necessities of the case, it is left almost entirely to local management. And the bill herewith returned recognizes this fact and leaves, as the Grand Army does, the discretion mainly with two or three officers of the board. Practically the management, organization, system, methods of purchase, accounts, as well as admission of inmates, selection of officers, employes and fixing of their salaries are left to only a part of the board of trustees. They are vested, as I understand, with the power to manage an institution which looks to the state largely for its buildings, equipment and means of current support.

It needs no argument to demonstrate that such a system is unwise, unsafe, unbusiness-like and contrary to the dictates of sound policy. It is desirable for all interests, especially that of an institution like this one, that its management be placed on a sound footing. It is better for the actual managers that they be limited in their powers, compelled to keep and show proper records, accounts and vouchers for their own protection against scandal and suspicion, which can hardly fail to follow the present loose system. The well-being of this asylum for the aged and destitute soldiers demand more careful and considerate legislation.

I yield to none in an active sympathy for the veteran defender of the republic; and would stint in nothing that tends to make happy and comfortable his old age, or to testify to him the gratitude of the state. But the gift should be made in wisdom and in care. Every precaution of legislation and administration should be taken, that he, only, is the beneficiary of the provision a grateful state makes for him. The people are willing to give liberally, and they ask only that their generosity be not abused through an irresponsible stewardship. They wish to know, and have the means of knowing, that the money they devote to this worthy object has been faithfully and judiciously applied, under due sense of legal responsibility, and all the safeguards of considerate legislation.

It is not suggested that the state should recede from the policy of support of this Home, which has been adopted, nor is it insisted that the control of the Home should be taken from the present local management, the noble band of men and women, the Grand Army of the Republic, or the Woman's Relief Corps, under whose kindly auspices it is conducted. But it is inevitable that for many years the Veterans' Home will largely draw upon the state for its means of support. Its other sources of revenue will fall off and its expenses increase. It should, therefore, in my judgment, be placed under such reasonable state supervision as the people have a right to demand in return for their liberality. They should not be turned off with the intimation that it is their business only to give and ask no questions.

I deem this bill so faulty, and the present course of dealing with this institution so objectionable, that I am constrained to withhold from it my approval.

It is respectfully submitted that an appropriation of this magnitude for such a purpose, should contain, in view of existing circumstances, provisions in substance as follows, viz.:

1. That the sums designated for paying indebtedness, be used, as far as need be, to pay off the outstanding mortgage which incumbers the property.

2. That the title to all additional land purchased for the use of the Home be taken in the name of the state, and that the attorney general be required to examine as to the title, and approve it before the purchase money is paid.

3. That before this appropriation be paid over, the city of Waupaca be authorized and required to execute and file with the secretary of state, a relinquishment of claim or interest in the lands of the Home heretofore or to be hereafter acquired by the state, thus removing an attempted cloud upon the title of the state.

4. That the objects for which the appropriation is made be clearly set forth in the bill and not left in the alternative, loosely to the discretion of the managers.

5. That the state board of supervision be required, at stated periods, to fully examine into the accounts of the Home, so far as they involve the expenditure of state moneys, into its management, and to annully report upon its conduct and condition.

6. That before receiving any part of the appropriation, the trustees be required to execute and file a bond, in form approved by the attorney general, with sureties to be approved by the governor, upon due justification of their responsibility, conditioned for the faithful expenditure of the moneys in accordance with and for the purposes of the act, and in no other manner, and that they will fully disclose to the board of supervision of the state, all books, contracts, accounts, vouchers or other papers, whenever required, in relation to such expenditure, and in all respects faithfully perform their duties as such trustees. This to be required in addition to the treasurer's bond as custodian.

7. That the board of trustees be required to report biennially to the board of supervision or control of the state institutions, an account of the transaction of the Home, its receipts from all sources, and the expenditure thereof by items, the names and salaries of employes and officers, the names and number of inmates, the time of their occupancy, the organization in which they served, and place from which admitted, and such other details as the board of supervision may require as to expenditure of state moneys. Such report to be made according to the fiscal year of the state.

8. That all permanent improvements upon said property made with money appropriated by the state, be made upon the approval of the state board of supervision, or a majority thereof; that plans and specifications be submitted to them, and their approval certified before the expenditure can be incurred; and that the moneys be paid out from time to time, by warrants on the state treasurer, as the expenditures are made upon their certification of approval.

Such provisions, or others in the same line, will not disturb the present control, nor interfere with the prerogatives of the Grand Army. The selection of inmates is not changed, but a supervision, such as is due the state, will be imposed. Some such steps, to clear up title and clouds thereon, and secure better system, seem to me to be imperatively necessary before the state makes further appropriation for this institution.

I trust the objections to this measure may be obviated, and at the same time the protection secured that the people of the state should have over money expended cheerfully by them.

GEO. W. PECK.

On motion of Senator Woodnorth,
The message and bill were laid over until Thursday,
March 26.

Senator Clawson moved that one thousand copies of the message be printed for the use of the senate.

Which motion was lost.

SPECIAL ORDER.

Being the consideration of

No. 136, S.,

A bill to apportion the state into senate and assembly districts,

Senator Kidd offered the following minority report of the committee on Apportionment.

The minority of the committee on apportionment ask leave to submit briefly the reasons which compel them to dissent from the report of the majority on bill No. 136, S., and ask that said reasons be spread upon the journal.

1st. That the bill, as a bill, was reported upon by the majority of the committee before the minority was given an opportunity to consult or make an examination as to its provisions.

2d. That since the bill has been printed we find that the provisions of the state constitution, which provides that the state shall be apportioned into senate and assembly districts, according to the number of inhabitants, and that such districts shall consist of contiguous territory, and be in as compact form as practicable, have been studiously and systematically disregarded.

3rd. There seems to have been a deliberate attempt to deprive a large portion of the state of any representation in the senate by re arranging senatorial districts so as to provide that portions of the state which elected senators at the last general election, shall elect senators again at the next election, and those portions which would be entitled under the constitution to elect senators at the next election shall not elect until the general election of 1894.

4th. That the pending bill was reported without affording the minority an opportunity to read the same or acquire any knowledge of the provisions contained therein.

Respectfully submitted,

Senator Fetzner submitted the following report of the joint committee on Sturgeon Bay canal:

MADISON, Wis., April 20, 1891.

To the Honorable, the Legislature of the State of Wisconsin:

GENTLEMEN:—Your joint committee in the matter of the examination of the Sturgeon Bay and Lake Michigan Ship Canal and Harbor company's finances, beg leave to report that since appointment due diligence has been observed and all time devoted thereto other than that consumed by special duties on other committees or necessary duties as legislators. There was delay at first owing to the necessity for arranging with the officers of the company whereby their presence at Madison could be secured with all of their books, papers, vouchers, etc.; this finally accomplished there had to be determined a line of procedure which was not easy of accomplishment, owing to the impression obtained from the company's claim as set forth in the congressional report, executive document, No. 106, of 1887. To expedite matters the officers of the company were requested to state their claim as of date February the first, 1891. All preliminaries having been arranged, we found the company represented by its president, book-keeper and attorney, who were cordial in all respects, ready and willing to assist in making clear all that was required. Their books of account, vouchers, reports, etc., were found in excellent order, simple, plain, easy of access and comprehensive. Our accountant was directed to determine the accuracy of the basis of their claim, which was for loans, advances and services, and generally to examine all matters; his conclusions in detail, printed for the information of your honorable body and this committee while matters were in progress, are found herewith as a part of this report. All pertaining to their land sales received careful consideration; individuals who expressed knowledge at variance with the company's statement, were examined as witnesses, but our conclusion, after the greatest care, is that the company's records in these matters cannot be seriously questioned. The entire income and out go of funds and causes relating thereto have abundant appearance of fairness other than the sum allowed for salaries and certain sundry items in expense account which account for the difference between our determination at the close of this report and the sum which the company wished to establish. The great cause for the misapprehension existing in the minds of the people of this state would probably have been allayed had proper legislative action been taken as to annual reports to the state and what particular official should receive same. Special grievances in the eyes of those presumed to be greatly interested were inquired into with great particularity, notably the large sale of land in December, 1881, also the large payment of $4,110 to one J. Harris. The explanation of these matters submitted by the representatives of this company, together with the vouchers and papers relating thereto, are clearly satisfactory that the procedure could not be looked upon then, certainly not now, as other than correct. The surrounding circumstances at the time of each transaction must be considered. No personal examination was had of the canal and its appointments but the result of inquiries is to the effect that it is not in the best of condition, that large repairs are needed and it is problematical when an income from reasonable tolls after paying for the repairs and necessary annual expenses, even if conducted in the most economical manner, will enable the payment of sufficient extent upon the indebtedness found now existing to extinguish the same.

We find due the said company the sum of.....	$90,417.11
Less cash on hand.....	$1,463 50
Tolls uncollected.....	7,120 13
	<hr/> $8,583 63

Leaving a net balance due the said company on the 1st day of February, 1891, of.....$81,833 48

Finally, we wish to render our thanks to the office of the Attorney General where all matters have been submitted before final action .

Respectfully submitted,
JOHN FETZER,
Chairman.

HENRY CONNER,
CHAS. M. WHITESIDE,
J. W. WATSON,
L. H. MEAD.

In order to avoid future confusion as to the application of net receipts of this company, and to comply with the act of congress, approved in 1866, the committee beg leave to recommend that the accompanying joint resolutions be adopted.

JOHN FETZER,
Chairman.
HENRY CONNER,
J. W. WATSON,
CHAS. M. WHITESIDE,

Resolved, That the said company be required to file with the commissioners of public lands on or before the 10th day of February, 1892, and on or before the 10th day of February of each year thereafter, a full and complete report of receipts and disbursements for services, repairs and management of said canal, incurred for the year ending the 31st day of January next prior thereto and that the commissioners of public lands be and they are hereby authorized and requested to audit the same, and on such audit to allow the salaries of directors, including president, treasurer and secretary together, at a sum not exceeding the sum of $2,000.00 per annum, and that they forthwith transmit a copy of such report so audited, to the secretary of the interior.

And resolved, That except when prevented by the necessity of making extraordinary or unusual repairs, the said company be required to apply the net receipts from tolls in excess of the disbursements above prescribed for, to the payment of annual interest at seven per cent. on said sum of $81,833.48, and that any surplus above such interest, be annually applied in reduction of said principal sum. The intent hereof being to require the said company to apply the net receipts from said canal to as early a payment of the said principal sum and interest, as may be consistent with the proper management thereof.

On motion of Senator Fetzer,

The rules were suspended, and the resolution adopted.

The roll was called and the following senators answered to their names.

The Journal of yesterday was approved.

The president addressed the senate as follows:

SENATORS:

The time of your legislative labors is drawing to a close. Before long you will leave these halls where you assembled in obedience to a mandate of the people to perform a public duty, and return to your homes and your private business. In the ordinary course of human events it is not given to every legislature to follow in the footsteps of Solon, the Athenian, or Lycurgus, the Spartan, and introduce a system of laws destined to remodel a commonwealth and to live and flourish for ages. It is not given to every legislator to participate in the foundation of a great nation as was the happy lot of the founders of our American institutions. But every American citizen, called by the votes of his fellow citizens to the high and honorable position of legislator has a very important function before him, namely, to aid in the preservation of our institutions which have made this nation great, powerful and prosperous — to aid in harmonizing the varied interests and mighty forces which spring up and develop in the rapid progress of our wonderful American civilization. And it is not an easy task to perform this duty in a creditable and satisfactory manner. It is certainly easy enough to sneer and scoff at the labors and trials and mistakes of lawgivers; but it is not an easy task for any man, no matter what may be his moral worth and his intellectual capacity, to come into the halls of legislation and shape and embody his ideas into practical measures, to carry them through successfully, meeting, as he is sure to do, with many a Scylla and Charibdis in his path, and to give them the force of law.

I know, senators, that the public press is always inclined to be hypercritical in regard to the doings of legislative bodies, and you may not escape its severe strictures, and sometimes harsh and unjust criticism. But I also know, and if my humble testimony may carry any weight with it, I cheerfully testify, that you have applied yourselves to your duties with a commendable zeal and with an honesty of purpose deserving of praise. You have labored as citizens of Wisconsin, irrespective of party, for the best interests of this great state according to your own innermost convictions and the dictates of your consciences; and I hope the fruits of your labors may be such as you fervently desire them to be, and that the people of our dear state may be benefited thereby in their interests and their liberty.

Senators, we are shortly going to separate, in all human probability never to meet again, all of us in a body, in this chamber. I shall carry away with me the sweet recollection of the great kindness you have shown me, without any exception, during the whole session, and for which I beg you to accept my sincerest thanks. I feel also profoundly grateful for the indulgence you manifested when, inexperienced and insufficiently versed in parliamentary law and practice, I took possession of this chair. I am deeply conscious of the great honor which has fallen to my lot in being called to preside over an intelligent and dignified body of legislators, like the present senate of Wisconsin, and I assure you senators, that every moment I spent in this chair has been one of genuine pleasure and enjoyment. I beg to assure you once more that the pleasant memories of the time we spent together in the performance of public duty will abide with me until the last moment of my earthly career. May every one of you, senators, be prosperous and happy in your future life. I take occasion also to acknowledge the zeal and fidelity with which the chief clerk and sergeant-at-arms of the senate, and their subordinates, have performed their respective duties, and the uniform politeness they have shown to everybody on this floor. I beg them, also, to accept my warmest thanks.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED.

By Senator Clawson:

Res. No. 30, S.,

WHEREAS, The Hon. Charles Jonas, lieutenant governor, has presided over the deliberations of this body with signal ability and with perfect impartiality, and uniform courtesy: therefore Resolved, That the sincere thanks of the senate be, and they are hereby tendered to an esteemed and honored presiding officer, Hon. Charles Jonas, and we beg to assure him that we are and each of us will carry to our homes the kindest and most friendly feelings for him.

By Senator Kingston:

Jt. Res. No. 68, S.,

Resolved by the senate, the assembly concurring, That the state of Wisconsin, by the death of Hon. David Taylor, justice of the supreme court, has lost the presence and counsel of a careful and wise citizen and jurist. As a citizen he commanded the high respect of those with whom he was brought in contact; as a friend, he was always esteemed and warmly loved; as a jurist he had the courage of his convictions, and those convictions were always based upon a careful, painstaking review of questions submitted for consideration; his place in life may, in a measure, be filled, but never can be filled by more courageous, warm-hearted, manly man.

To his life and work we owe thanks for the incentive which enfuses us who remain, with the desire to emulate that life which he has led:

Resolved, That the state of Wisconsin extend to the family and friends of the deceased, its sincere and earnest sympathy in the affliction which deprives them of such a friend and which takes from the state such a valued officer and citizen.

4 O'CLOCK, P. M.

The senate was called to order by the president.

Assistant chief clerk, Sam J. Shafer, was given the privilege of the floor, and made the following remarks:

MR. PRESIDENT: I ask the indulgence of the senate for a few moments.

Mr. President: I am instructed, by the chief clerk's force, to extend our warmest and most sincere thanks for the very kind and courteous treatment we have received, during this session, from the president, each and every senator, and our chief clerk.

This kindly treatment has aided us materially in the performance of our duties.

We came here green hands, with no knowledge of the duties we were to perform. That we would make errors was expected, that we have made errors is conceded, but we assure you they were errors arising from ignorance rather than negligence, and your indulgence has tended to smooth the rougher places.

To our chief clerk who has endeavored to make our duties as pleasurable as possible, we wish to say, he will ever be held in the grateful remembrance of the entire force, by whom I am instructed to present to him this little bauble, which we trust he will ever wear in remembrance of the friends by whom he will ever be held in memory dear.

I wish further to state that the force has purchased and caused to be forwarded to his home, where it awaits his coming, a complete set of the Encyclopedia Britannica bound in half Russia.

Mr. President and Senators, I again thank you.

Chief clerk John P. Hunne responded as follows:

Mr. President, senators and associates: It is needless for me to say that words cannot express the grateful appreciation I feel for the kind words spoken, and gifts presented on this occasion. While I cannot but prize these tokens of remembrance, I prize still more the respect and good will that accompanied them. In the conduct of the trust reposed in me by this honorable body, I have sought to do every duty. In its performance it has been my good fortune to be surrounded with a corps of assistants that have not only lightened the burdens of its responsibility and care, but have made those duties pleasant. To each and all I feel deeply grateful, for to them more than aught else is due the success with which my department has been credited. In closing I desire to express my sincere and heartfelt thanks to the president and senators for the assurance of my highest esteem and gratitude for the forbearance and kindness shown on all occasions.
